'SHIPS FIRE ON SURFACED SUB'

Visibility Poor—It Escapes

U.S. WEAPONS READIED FOR BIG ASSAULT

From Press Reports

Buenos Aires — Argentine warships were reported Sunday night to have opened fire point-blank at one of two trapped foreign submarines on the surface of the Golf Nuevo. The vessel immediately crash-dived.

Residents of the area said the action took place around dusk, with the sub's escape attributed to poor visibility. The unexpected contact came as Argentine vessels continued to lay depth charges in circular patterns over the waters of the small Atlantic inlet.

According to reports from Puerto Madryn, modern depth charges and sonar devices flown in by the United States Navy this weekend had not yet been put to use. The reports said the new equipment was being loaded onto the attack vessels for an all-out assault early Monday morning.

Find Dead Frogman

Meanwhile, Argentine newspapers reported that the body of a mystery frogman, presumably a crewmember of the sub that is known to be damaged from previous attacks, was found in the waters of the Golf Nuevo.

These accounts said the frogman, described as wearing underwater clothing and an oxygen tank strapped to his back had been dead about 4 days. The navy refused comment on the reports.

The unofficial accounts said the frogman's body showed injuries that might have been caused from depth charges. There were no identification marks on his clothing and his nationality could not be determined, the reports added.

Rear Adm. Gaston Clement, the navy secretary, predicted a climax "in a matter of hours" in the grim 16-day-old game of hide and seek. He refused to go into detail.

An Argentine naval source predicted the U.S. equipment would play a decisive role in the assault.

The source said Argentine warships, some of which date back to World War I, and planes have been handicapped by outdated equipment in the hunt for the modern submarines.

The government and navy have refused to speculate on the nationality of the subs, but some military and civilian officials believe they are Russian.

The first submarine was detected by 3 warships on training maneuvers Jan. 30 in the gulf, considered by Argentina to be its territorial waters.

NO MORE MOON TRIPS

Two-year-old Eileen Bengal of Northfield, N.J., eyes the hairbrush warily as she promises her mother, Stella, she will attempt no more trips to the moon—at least until she's older. Eileen caused consternation by climbing to the top of a 50-foot TV tower at her home. Her mother climbed up after her and held on until firemen brought both down safely.

Paris May Ask A-Partner Role

Paris (AP)—France, triumphant over an atomic test explosion, may now push its case for a share of the nuclear know-how of the United States and Great Britain.

Two members of the French atomic energy commission will visit Washington later this week to meet officials of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Reaction in Washington to the French test Saturday was that one explosion does not entitle a nation to full membership in atomic councils. But France's President Charles de Gaulle is prepared to argue that much nuclear information is already known to Russia and should not be kept secret from a friend.

Paris Sees Films

De Gaulle and other Frenchmen Sunday got their first look at photographs of the explosion of the tower device, shot off Saturday morning in the Sahara. An army documentary film showing preparations for the blast and the flowering of the awesome mushroom cloud were flown to Paris. De Gaulle got a special showing at his Elysee Palace.

In Syria, UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser denounced the explosion. He said France "has no right to employ an Arab nation (Algeria) as the site for the test." Thousands of Syrian students marched out of classes. Demonstrators in Damascus chanted "Down With Criminal De Gaulle."

29 Freight Cars Derail On CB&Q Main Line

Mascot, Neb. (UPI) — Twenty-nine cars of a westbound Burlington freight train derailed here shortly before noon Sunday, twisting rails in all directions and piling cars like "match sticks."

No injuries were reported, but authorities threw up a blockade around a tank car leaking explosive naphtha. A railroad explosive expert was enroute to the scene late Sunday afternoon.

The derailment of the 90-car train occurred in a light snow within the snow town of Mascot in Harlan County south-central Nebraska.

In Omaha, Burlington General Manager E. P. Stine said a "shoo-fly," a temporary section of track, is being built about 650 long around the derailed area. He said it is hoped that service can be resumed through the area sometime Monday morning.

Witnesses at the scene said the area was littered with wreckage and track was bent and twisted in all shapes. Another tank car filled with aqua ammonia was also leaking, but was not explosive.

Two flat cars carrying combines were among those derailed, along with box cars filled with machinery, a refrigerator car — believed empty — and at least two cars filled with corn.

The engine was not derailed. Normal speed of the train through the area is 60 miles per hour.

Stine said two of the Burlington's major through-trains were to be routed north along Union Pacific rails Sunday night.

Stine said it would take several days to clear the wreckage and repair the main track.

Passenger Trains Slightly Delayed

Burlington passenger trains Sunday night were approximately one hour late arriving in Lincoln from the west.

The Burlington's chief dispatcher at Lincoln said late Sunday that the eastbound Chicago-Denver and California Zephyrs were being detoured over Union Pacific tracks into Hastings.

Service thereby was being cut temporarily from Holdrege and Minden, he said, until temporary track is laid around the derailment scene.

Westbound trains, the dispatcher added, were being detoured over Burlington tracks through Red Cloud to Oxford.

Normal service is expected to be resumed by late Monday, he said.

Second Sub Believed Trying To Aid Mate

(The following dispatch was telephoned from the scene shortly before the Argentine navy stepped up its attacks.)

By Francisco Lopez

Puerto Madryn, Argentina (AP) — Out there somewhere in the waters of Golfo Nuevo a mystery submarine thumbs its nose at the Argentine navy.

Navy officers say it slipped daringly past the heavily guarded mouth of the gulf to aid a comrade submarine that apparently was crippled by depth charges after being detected by Argentine warships 16 days ago.

The new sub swiftly demonstrated its prowess. Its commander began harassing the Argentine task force.

The submerged craft will slip up close to a warship, then pull slowly away while the ship tries to pinpoint it on its sonar — a sound tracking device.

Highly Maneuverable

When the hunter ship closes in, the submarine picks up speed and maneuvers with drastic twists and turns, which quickly allow the sub to escape.

The navy believes this submarine is trying to distract attention from the wounded submarine, which may be undergoing repairs in the hope of making a final dash to the open Atlantic.

Pilots said they have heard messages between the submarines and friendly craft — presumably other submarines — waiting somewhere out in the Atlantic. Some messages are in code.

The pilots report other messages are in what is supposed to be Yankee slang. But they say it is poor slang and apparently is used to try to confuse the hunters.

Sub Speed Cut

Navy sources here say the speed of the first submarine, whose propellers were believed damaged by depth charges, has dropped from 20 knots to about 9.

The sources say the submarine still has controls working for a quick descent from the surface to escape depth charges. It has been surfacing only at night.

Navy sources pointed out the old depth charges Argentina has been using reach only a depth of 262 feet. Parts of the gulf are twice that deep.

But they pointed out that depth charges just received from the United States can reach down to 656 feet.

Higher Temps Seen Monday

The weatherman held out hope late Sunday to Nebraskans tired of cold nights and chilly days by predicting warmer temperatures for the entire state.

And he was also predicting relief from Sunday's gloomy cloud cover with a forecast that called for only partly cloudly skies to last through Tuesday.

High temperatures will range Monday from the 40s in the extreme west to between 30 and 40 elsewhere.

Western Nebraska got some moderate snow Sunday with up to two inches of new snow on the ground at Imperial and McCook. Imperial got .18 inch of precipitation, Sidney received .14 inch, Scottsbluff had .05 inch and North Platte recorded .04 inch.

Chadron recorded Sunday's high temperature of 38. Omaha had the overnight low with a chilly one-degree reading. Lincoln's Sunday high was 31: the low was two degrees.

It will be warmer west, and somewhat warmer east and central Monday. After a "not so cold" Monday night, forecasts call for warmer conditions in the south Tuesday.

COORS CASE—

'Heard Shot,' Says Woman

Golden, Colo. (AP)—Mystery cloaking the disappearance and possible kidnaping of Adolph Coors III deepened Sunday after a rancher's wife disclosed she heard a gunshot about the time the wealthy industrialist vanished 5 days ago.

Mrs. Rosemary Stitt, 38, said the sound of a shot and loud voices came from the area of the wooden bridge where the 44-year-old Coors' station wagon was found—its engine still running and radio playing—last Tuesday.

Mrs. Stitt, her husband, William, and their 5 children live a quarter of a mile from the backwoods bridge and a little less than two miles from the Coors foothills home near Morrison.

The Denver Post said Edward C. Kemper of FBI Washington headquarters confirmed federal agents are working on the presumption Coors was abducted.

"Our interest is the safe return of Mr. Coors," the newspaper quoted Kemper. "These cases are very delicate and we have maintained complete silence and will continue to do so until release of the victim."

Maternity Nurse At Queen's Side

London (AP) — Helen Rowe, the maternity nurse who will attend Queen Elizabeth II at the birth of her third child, moved into Buckingham Palace Sunday.

Her arrival indicated the long wait for royal birth is nearing an end.

The baby is expected sometime this week—possibly in the next couple of days.

Wide Range Of Donated Materials Add To Historical Society Collection

By Germaine Deal

History is made by people and the events in which they take part.

Likewise, the State Historical Society exists because of these people.

People today are making possible the preservation of yesterday by the contribution of various items as well as monetary donations.

A typical month at the Historical Society brings in many historically valuable contributions ranging from personal papers and documents of various Nebraskans to small toys with which the youngsters of the first settlers played.

Some Very Valuable

These items, themselves, have very little significance; however, when they are associated with persons who helped mold Nebraska into a state, they become extremely valuable historically.

During 1959, 192 individual collections were accepted containing 1,456 separate items for the museum. According to Marvin F. Kivett, museum director, many offers of donations could not be accepted, because, in many cases, materials of a similar nature were already adequately represented in the collections while others were not related to the Nebraska area.

However, Kivett pointed out that nothing which is accepted by the museum is destroyed. Due to limited space it is impossible to have all items on display simultaneously, so a rotation process of display items is practiced with the rest of materials being stored.

At the present time preparations are being made for a William Jennings Bryan display in keeping with the Bryan Centennial, and a 1900 period dining room. Furniture from the dining room of the John B. Wright home in Lincoln, acquired during the past year, as well as other various contributions, will be used in the display.

The Historical Society has a policy of directing persons wishing to donate items, which the Society cannot use, to other museums. In this way, duplicate items and items unrelated to Nebraska are channeled to other places which may be interested in obtaining them, W. D. Aeschbacher, Society director, said.

The library donations consist not only of books and pamphlets but the personal papers of prominent Nebraskans, including governors, attorneys, ministers and statesmen.

'Affect Lives, Careers'

"We are chiefly interested in papers and other materials that affect the lives and careers of important Nebraska persons and organizations," Dr. John B. White, librarian, stated.

He pointed out that oftentimes notes and letters have more historical interest than the finished product of a publication.

The Historical Society is a state institution, supported by state funds, society memberships and individual donations. "We especially hope to increase our membership all over the state in 1960," Aeschbacher said.

Bondsman Returns Man From New Jersey

Fred Haney, 28, was being held in Lincoln city jail Sunday night and the bondsman who returned him from New Jersey said authorities in that state will dismiss kidnapping warrants "after they verify the facts."

The warrants in New Jersey were issued after Mitzner and another man had taken Haney from his parents' home at Williamstown, N.J. Lincoln bondsman Kenneth Mitzner had earlier posted $500 bond for Haney, who had been scheduled to appear in Municipal Court here Feb. 11.

The New Jersey action had been taken after Haney's father, Ernest, had reported to police there that his son had been seized.

Mitzner said in Lincoln Sunday night that a federal court ruling gave him the right to go into New Jersey to arrest Haney.

Mitzner cited the Supreme Court ruling in the Taylor vs. Tainter decision which read:

"They (sureties) may exercise their rights in person or by agent. They may pursue him into another state; may arrest him on the Sabbath; or if necessary, may break and enter his house for that purpose.

"The seizure is not made by virtue of new process. None is needed. It is likened to a rearrest, by the sheriff of an escaping prisoner."

Mitzner said he will formally surrender Haney to court authorities Monday and if Haney pleads innocent a new trial date will probably be set.

Haney was recently discharged from Lincoln Air Force Base.

Hardwaremen Showing New Items

By Louis Engel

New items on display Sunday at the 58th convention and Hardware Show of the Nebraska Retail Hardware Association at Pershing Municipal auditorium included shot-shell loaders, new fishing lures, a new adhesive to use in electrical wiring and a new radial drill press.

Three different models of shell loaders, designed by Bob Deitemeyer of Lincoln were on display. The machines are designed so hunters can reload their used shells. The 100 model is mainly for the weekend or occasional hunter while the 200 and 300 models are better equipped machines and can make up to 500 shells per hour.

New fishing lures on display at the show are made for fishing deep or close to the surface of the water. The lures are designed to sink deep into the water when moved fast and to come close to the surface when moved slowly.

A new adhesive shown is to be used for mounting junction boxes and other electrical equipment without the use of screws. The glue is supposed to be resistant to heat up to 300 degrees and cold down to 200 degrees below zero.

The new drill press is equipped with a moveable swivel and can be moved so holes can be drilled from almost any angle.

Some 150 exhibits were on display at the show and people, totaling above 1,000 from Nebraska and neighboring states, attended the show Sunday.

Activities on the agenda for Monday include speeches by W. D. Nichols, Al Robertson, Hardy Rickbeil and Rick Lambert, director of National Retail Hardware Association's industry activities.

The convention will end Tuesday with the election of officers in the morning, a noon speech by A. L. Platky of Portland, Ore., and installation of officers in the afternoon.

Trucker Dies Of Hurts Suffered In Road Mishap

Lexington (AP)—Dick Vest, 60-year-old truck driver from Overton, died in a Lexington hospital of injuries suffered in a two-vehicle accident.

Investigating officers said his truck was in collision with one driven by Duane Margritz, 22, of Lexington. The mishap occurred about 3 miles east of Lexington Saturday.

The death raised the state highway fatality toll for the year to 23 as compared with 33 a year ago.

Paar's Resolution Beginning To Sag

Bronxville, N.Y. (AP)—Both sides rested Sunday in the Jack Paar-NBC war, but the comedian, packing for a South American vacation, has simmered down to the point where he says "I hope that I don't have to go back to the 'Tonight' show."

Paar spent the day inside his suburban home here, leafing through a deluge of telegrams and mail that has poured in, and trying to arrange plane transportation for himself and his wife, Miriam.

"I don't want to say where we're going," he explained, "because it would all start again down there. Getting out of here will be tough, but we'll go someplace for a couple of days, and then start moving around."

Paar's network bosses — Robert W. Sarnoff and Robert E. Kintner, NBC board chairman and president respectively — were in Florida attending a meeting of NBC affiliate TV stations.

Network Reminder

Saturday Paar received a letter from Kintner. In it the executive apologized for the network's action in cutting out almost 5 minutes from the tape of Paar's Wednesday night show without informing the comedian, but reminded him that it was the network's prerogative and that Paar was still under contract to it.

The network said Paar had told a joke that was not in good taste.

Thursday night Paar walked out of his show in protest against the censorship, announcing he was through.

But after 3 days and two nights of sound sleep, Paar had softened his attitude considerably and his sense of humor was beginning to reemerge.

"When I woke up this morning," he said, "I felt as low as I ever have in my life. Right now, I'm beginning to live dangerously again. I'm cleaning some neckties with carbon tetrachloride and smoking a cigarette at the same time."

Paar said he hopes to stay on vacation for "a good long time."

The Farm Round Up

By Glenn Kreuscher
Staff Farm Writer

Wherever farmers have been meeting there seems to be one common theme, "How can we reduce operating expenses."

At Farm & Home Days, Ag Days and Livestock and Breeder Events, the same topic seems to be the point of interest for 1960 operations.

Minimum tillage which showed good results last year seems likely to get additional attention from farmers who by using pre-emergence spraying for weed control like the once over advantage of planting corn to hold down labor and operating expenses.

Many farmers that have added additional acres plan to convert to 4 row planting and cultivating equipment to meet the shortage of help on the farm.

Re-Seeding

Land that has not been producing top yields or is hard to farm is scheduled for reseeding and use as pasture on many farms, especially in Great Plains Conservation operations.

Hog producers are planning breeding operations toward meat type hogs and will strive to produce No. 1 grade hogs. In the recent Omaha Market Hog show over 90% of the hogs graded No. 1. The top price of the hog market adds extra dollars to the swine producers income.

Dr. George Young, head of veterinary science University of Nebraska, told producers that tests with disease-free hogs show that a hog can reach market weight on 200 lbs. less feed. He reported that the demand has been heavy for breeding stock with many outstate demands pouring into Nebraska from hog men that wish to convert to this program.

Almost As Easy

Dairymen find that once converted to Grade A, that it is almost as easy to milk 25 cows as 10 with the new modern milking parlors and bulk tanks used. Adding extra cows reduces the overall expense per head on cost of equipment.

One of the most interesting experiments was discussed by Dr. John Matsushima, associate professor of animal husbandry, University of Nebraska, when he told Seward county cattlemen that tests in feeding dehydrated alfalfa show similar results in gain to that gotten from hormone additives.

He later said, "We hope that additional tests will show these same qualities and feed boosters in sun cured alfalfa."

In cutting down costs of operating many livestock men find that closer attention needs to be payed to correct balancing of home grown feeds.

ODD BLOTCHES HIT MONUMENT

Washington (AP)—The Washington Monument no longer gleams perfectly white over the night skyline of the nation's capital.

Mysterious shadows have blotched across its surface during the last few days.

Officials of National Capital Parks, which takes care of the monument, are preparing a massive hunt for the cause of the blotches.

"We're assuming it's the lights," Cornelius Heine, chief of the parks' division of public use, said.

He added that there was no change of flaws in the monument's surface.

"We're positive we'll have the monument gleaming white again for Washington's birthday," he said.

Ship Still Held

Port Said, Egypt (AP) — The unloading of the Danish freighter Inge Toft was completed but the ship's sailing date was still uncertain. The vessel has been held in Port Said by Egyptian authorities since last May 21, when it tried to enter the Suez Canal with an Israeli cargo.

Dead Woman Had Suffered Skull Fracture

Omaha (AP) — An autopsy Sunday indicated that a woman, whose partially clad, frozen body was found Saturday, had suffered a skull fracture.

Police said, though, doctors reported the fracture was not severe enough, apparently to have killed her, but rather to have rendered her unconscious. Further laboratory tests are scheduled.

The unidentified body was found late Saturday by 5 boys who were sledding on the ice in Ponca Creek, near the north edge of Hummel Park. The left arm and shoulder of the woman were sticking from the snow.

Acting Coroner George Sullivan said the woman had probably been dead 3 or 4 weeks. The body, he added, had been mutilated, possibly by animals. An immediate autopsy was impossible because of the frozen condition of the body.

Lt. A. E. Dik of the Sioux City, Iowa, police department told the Associated Press he had interrogated a young man Sunday morning about "all he knew about it was what he heard on the radio."

Dik said the young man, arrested Saturday night after a traffic accident, inquired of the arresting officer, "Did you hear about the woman found in Omaha?" Later, the man said "I'll bet there's more to it than meets the eye."

On the basis of these comments, Dik said, the man was "fully questioned" Sunday, but shed no further light on the subject. Dik said the young man would be charged with intoxication.

The autopsy reversed earlier reports, putting her height at about 5 feet 1½ inches and weight at 110 pounds. Earlier reports had indicated she was 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighed about 140 pounds. The body had a deep abdominal scar.

Police apparently were pinning their hopes for identification on the physical description.

They said an abdominal scar indicated a caesarean section operation. She also had old scars on the right side of the neck, breast and left thigh.

Her ears were pierced and there was an earring on one. She was wearing a 14-karat white gold wedding band of orange blossom styling. She also had a sterling silver engagement ring which had five holes for sets, detectives said.

Easterners Hit By Heavy Snow

By Associated Press

A powerful snowstorm charged out of the Southland and battered the Northeast Sunday with towering snows, gale-force winds, sleet and freezing rain.

Drifts piled 10 feet high in upstate New York where biting winds roared in from Lake Erie. Rochester, N.Y., staggered under 15 inches of snow.

A paralyzing snow fall more than a foot deep gripped areas stretching from eastern Ohio, across Pennsylvania and into New England. An unofficial 20 inches was measured in Bradford in western Pennsylvania.

Swine Producers Seek Alvo Winner's Secret Formula

By Glenn Kreuscher
Staff Farm Writer

Alvo—Swine producers have been asking George McKay and son of Alvo, "How do you do it?"

The McKays have been consistent winners in market hog shows and in barrow shows at the State Fair where Hampshires from their herd have taken top honors.

The most recent winning of the champion load of market hogs at the Omaha Market Show was the second straight year in a row that the McKays topped this event.

3 Things Cited

McKay says, "There are three things that are a must as far as I am concerned in raising good hogs."

"First, a person must breed the right kind of hogs, the kind that the packer likes to buy and that will give the consumer a lot of red meat.

"Second, the hog producer must practice strict sanitation methods from the time the pigs are farrowed until they hit market.

"Third, good management practices in feeding, and care go hand in hand with economical gains."

The winning load in Omaha weighed 214½ lbs. and were a few days short of 5 months old. They were part of a 65 head group that were self-fed milo and protein.

The McKay's breed for practical type hogs and insist on large litters.

Winning in a truckload lot show requires a real job of selecting hogs that are uniform, according to veteran hog buyer Fritz Johnson of Cudahy Packing Co.

Key Revealed

McKay agrees that uniformity is the key to winning a show where 10 hogs show as one lot, but considers it equally important for the registered breeder that sells breeding stock.

"Buyers like to see a uniformly good set of hogs and not just one or two that look like the right kind," McKay said.

"A breeder should raise the kind that top the market," believes McKay.

FFA Competition

The son, Marvin, has shown the winning barrow in FFA competition for three years in a row at the State Fair.

He said, "The hogs that make money are the kind that do well on regular feed without special care."

In addition to raising over 200 Hampshire hogs each year the father and son team farm 700 acres.

They are always busy, but enjoy showing visitors their Hampshires that have furnished breeding stock for many leading herds throughout the country.

Mrs. FDR Boards Train After Tieup

Pittsburgh (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived in Pittsburgh Sunday night hours late for a speaking engagement after her bus was delayed in a traffic jam on a snow-packed highway west of Pittsburgh.

The former first lady, tired and apparently weary from the 200 mile trip from Columbus, Ohio, went straight to a railroad station where she caught a train for New York.

Frostbite Suffered On Boxcar Ride

Arlie H. Cecil, 51, was reported in good condition at a local hospital Sunday.

He was found by police between 4th and 5th on J suffering from "frostbite."

The man had no home address and listed the address of a relative in Hunt County, Texas, on hospital records.

It was reported the man came to Lincoln on a boxcar from Denver, Colo.

"He loves me... more than he lets on

He's not the sentimental type, my husband.
Sometimes he'll get gruff or touchy.
But cow-eyed and dreamy?
Not since we were courting.
Yet, his man's ways do not hide his real affection.
Like yesterday, when the Metropolitan Man was here.
He bought another life insurance policy.
He didn't say why.
But I know.
You buy life insurance only because you love somebody.
He wants to be sure that if anything happens to him,
the children and I will be able to get along.
Now this is the fourth time he's done that.
And maybe a life insurance policy is not the young bride's idea of a Valentine.
But even so, it's a mighty good substitute.
So let him watch the fights.
I'll do the dishes.
He loves me all right."

". . . because you love somebody" . . . call your Metropolitan Man. Certainly insurance is not a substitute for love. Cuban-Russ Sugar Deal Portends Further Castro Shift Toward Kremlin

By Harold K. Milks

Havana (AP) — Collaboration between Moscow, the capital of international communism, and this normally anti-communist Catholic country is likely to be close in many spheres besides trade.

That conclusion spreads as Cuba sits back to analyze the impact of the big Soviet-Cuban trade pact signed here by Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Mikoyan pledged the Kremlin would buy one million tons of Cuban sugar a year — one-fifth the annual crop — and give Castro's regime a hundred-million-dollar credit to be spent in the Soviet Union.

New Ties Seen

Before leaving by plane for home, Mikoyan indicated to reporters that a resumption of diplomatic relations—broken off in 1951 in the days of President Fulgencio Batista—may follow quickly.

A final communique stressed the need of cooperation between the two countries in the United Nations, where once the United States could count on Cuban support in the endless struggles with the Russians.

Many believe that with a resumption of diplomatic relations, the Soviet Union will transfer its base of Latin American operations from Mexico City to Havana. Its representatives could expect a more friendly atmosphere here.

Castro's principal supporters here may not themselves be communists, but there is no question that some of those most influential today in guiding government policy are sympathetic toward replacing U.S. influence here with that of the Kremlin.

Bank Boss No. 1

These include Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara, whose hatred for the U.S. never has been hidden, and Capt. Antonio Nuenez Jimenez, who as director of the Institute of Agrarian Reform has had a hand in the gradual seizure of American-owned sugar fields and cattle lands.

As president of Cuba's National Bank, Guevara is in a particularly strategic position. The bank has complete control over Cuba's imports and exports. He can divert as much of Cuba's business toward the Soviet Union and away from the United States as he pleases.

Since the downfall of Batista, this leftist from Argentina has been arguing for closer ties with the Communust bloc and against what he calls Cuba's economic domination by the United States.

The Spirit of Independence
by J. Gordon Roberts

What Is Our Direction as a Nation?

Potentially the greatest national power for good on earth, our nation seems to plod along aimlessly without any goals or even direction in mind.

Why is this so? Does this apparent aimlessness stem from inner confusion within the individual American, confusion which should be resolved?

In this country we are taught quite properly, that we should follow the Golden Rule. We are also taught to be highly competitive. Yet outside of sports, too little differentiation may be made between good and bad competition, between constructive and destructive competition.

Failure to differentiate is not only bad for the economy of the country, it is also bad for the country emotionally and spiritually.

For sound competition brings out the best in those with whom we compete, as well as within ourselves. Other competition destroys both.

While remaining primarily human, our brother's keeper, we must still do our best to excel in order to use our own talents fully. Failure to reconcile these two objectives confuses and disturbs people.

Failure to reconcile the two objectives may also produce an aimless course as a national policy, both internally and internationally.

Probably more than legislation, our country needs a code of competitive ethics. It needs a code which may be applied practically in the best interests of the public.

Our country needs a code also which makes sense spiritually. No one should be required to degrade himself as a human being in order to be creatively competitive, while remaining in business.

What is the answer?

An essay contest for all high school students in this area on "How May Competition In Business Be Used Most Creatively?" will be announced on Monday, February 22.

Creatures Of Habit

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Clothing in one way or another probably occupies as much of the average individual's time as just about anything else. Yet, it is surprising the number of people who pay so little attention to it. It is not necessary that a person be dressed expensively or elaborately but there are a few things which have very little to do with the cost of dressing which are highly important.

If two men of equal ability and background are applying for a job but one is sloppily dressed, the other is likely to walk off with the rewards. The same thing can be said of promotions and in the general conduct of any business which involves contact with people. A well dressed salesman is much more likely to make a sale than the fellow who comes in with his necktie askew, his shoes muddy or dull, his shirt collar twisted up, a button or two off his coat and a big smudge of something here and there on his clothing.

Dividends Of Neatness

All of this has nothing to do with style as it is assumed that most people have enough sense to buy an outfit that fits them and not to dress with clashing or obnoxious colors. However, if they haven't this much sense, they had better find a clothier they can rely on and take his word for things.

But the little details of presentable dress are not hard to manage and are very inexpensive. It takes nothing but an iron, not necessarily expensive material, to take the bag out of the knee of your trousers, the wrinkles out of a lady's skirt or the mash out of a necktie. It doesn't take a 30 or 35-cent barbershop shine to make your shoes look presentable. You can do the job at home month after month with nothing but a rag and a 25-cent investment in a can of shoe polish.

If you remember that the way you look depends upon the way you think, not the money you spend, then you at least have a good start. And if you remember that the way you look is a good sign of the way you think, then you are on the road to success in this matter. We all know how you can't tell a book from its cover and that beauty is only skin deep but what good is the best book if its cover, its title or something can't entice any readers? And while beauty may be only skin deep, it is still a much greater asset than ugliness.

You won't ever get through this world merely because you dress right but if you don't dress right, the chances are that what else you have that would get you through might never get the chance it needs. But dress is interesting not only from the point of view of whether it is right or wrong and what it can or cannot do for you. In the way we dress, the physical procedure we go through, we find habits that have become second nature with us.

They have become so much a part of us that we are not even aware of them. There is an old joke about betting your friend that he cannot unbutton his vest and button it back up again. It's a play on words but a bet you can always win (if you can find anyone who still wears a vest). Your friend can unbutton his vest but he buttons it down, not up. He buttons, as probably everyone does, from the top button down, not from the bottom button up as the term "button up" literally calls for.

Who, also, ever puts on his trousers before he puts on his shirt? Reverse this order some morning and see how confused it makes you. Trousers are put on before shoes both from force of habit and as a matter of necessity. If you forget and put the shoes on first and then try to get the trousers on, you end up in a terrible predicament.

You are soon dancing on one foot with the other one caught in the cuff of your trousers in such a way that you can't get it in or out. This frequently happens when you are just changing trousers and are too lazy to take your shoes off to do the job right. But as usual, your shortcut methods only defeat you in the end. There are some things in this world which just can't be changed and one of them is the order of putting on trousers and shoes. If you want to get a little more confused, try tying your necktie without looking in a mirror. After years of tying the same old knot, you would think you could do it blindfolded but you can't.

Each In Its Order

Tie your left shoe before your right one, put your belt through its loops from left to right rather than right to left and see if you don't end up thinking you are only half-dressed. Of course, don't put on your shoes ahead of your socks as you might forget to make the correction and if there is anything which looks worse than a turned-up collar or crooked tie, it is a foot in a shoe without a sock.

No Doubt About It

A Kansas horticulturist, speaking on Omaha at the Midwest Chapter meeting of the National Shade Tree Association, reported that a tree is much better off growing wild in the forest than in the front yard of a city home. We find this hard to believe as an unbreakable rule but as a rule of thumb it is probably a very true statement.

The city trees, he said, are cut off at the top to make room for power lines and the roots are shaved back to make room for sewer lines. In addition to that, they are generally planted in sub-soil or dirt dug out for a basement. After this kind of treatment, it is a wonder the tree survives at all but by some miracle or other many of them seem to make the grade.

But the Kansan eliminated a few of the many other things which can also play havoc with the city tree. Many of them become traffic victims—run into by motorists and their trunks severely damaged. They must also survive the ravages of children who cut and climb upon them until the poor tree must wonder what its purpose in life is. And, of course, the horticulturist mentioned the fact that too many trees are planted too close together. Also, many are planted too close to the home.

The recent winter weather should have told a lot of people that their trees and shrubs are planted wrong insofar as drifting snow is concerned. While spring seems like a long way off with a thick covering of snow on the ground, the time will soon be here when outside plantings are again the rage. When that time does come, home owners should try to remember some of the pitfalls of tree and shrubbery planting. A little forethought can save a lot of time and money in addition to adding twice as much to the value of your property.

Assets No Profit Indicator

Non farming observers, generally unfamiliar with technical terms find themselves laboring with a paradox. They are asking, why is it that there is so much complaint when figures show that farm assets are steadily on the increase?

They wonder why the farmer is complaining when 10 or 15 years ago his listed assets were perhaps $15,000 and today they are almost twice that.

The answer to that is that his assets relate to the additional outlay required of him to do business. The issue is, his declining prices make it ever harder to justify his assets. In short he is not taking in enough to support his assets adequately.

The Kansas City Federal Reserve bank in its 1959 annual report covers the subject succinctly. What it had to say is illuminating and worth general reading.

It said:

"Technological innovation, which has proceeded at a rapid pace has had a profound influence on the capital requirements (of farming). Generally these innovations have encouraged individual farming farmers to substitute capital for labor in their efforts to expand output and produce more efficiently. Furthermore many of these developments can only be introduced profitably if the acreage handled per farmer is increased. Thus numbers of farmers have been declining. Despite this decline, total investment in the industry has been increasing because of the use of more capital and increasing land prices.

"The dollar value of assets employed by agriculture increased from $102 billion in 1946 to $203 billion in 1959 . . . The average investment per farm on commercially family wheat farms in the southern Great Plains increased from about $40,000 in 1946 to around $86,000 in 1959."

In view of the fact that assets are something that must be justified by earnings it is easy to see where declining prices are producing the bind.

Russia's Steel Figures

In 1955 the United States produced 117 million short tons of steel. The Soviet Union produced 50 short tons.

Last year the United States produced 93 million short tons. The capacity of the Soviet Union increased to 66 million short tons.

This has concerned sensitive Americans who are watching the running score of comparative growth of the two countries. On the surface it indicates that Russia is shortening the gap, that the hare is sleeping while the tortoise is steadily forging ahead.

Tonnages are not a precise comparison. Russia, a country of greater population and with farther to go in its industrial development is still under capacity while the United States, which is more advanced, added new capacity after World War I sufficient to oversupply its current needs. It is also true that the United States is associated with the western family of nations and France and Germany, which are also members, have rebuilt their pre-war steel industry sufficiently to maintain the capacity ratio between the West and the Soviet states as it has been in recent years. American economic growth is better measured by noting that its steel production in 1940 was 60 million short tons, reached 80 million short tons during WWII and without the demands of war is now running between 90 and 117 million short tons. The figures then reveal that the United States is moving strongly along, lagging no one to any serious degree.

The potent meaning of the figures is that the United States is sufficiently capacitied to accommodate its steady industrial growth and that eying Russia's progress in its own programs is a negative way of maintaining our position. We would spend our time better making more urgent efforts in fields where the ratios are actually running against us.

Water Pollution Problem Growing

WASHINGTON — The public health service is collecting water-pollution reports that read like horror stories. Probably the worst case was the dumping of dangerous radioactive waste into Colorado's Animas river by the Vanadium Corporation of America. Public health investigators discovered that 30,000 people in southern Colorado and New Mexico were drinking radioactive water.

In Jacinto City, Tex., sewage in the water produced such a powerful odor in the form of hydrogen sulfide that it literally turned silverware black, tarnished the paint on houses, and caused widespread illness.

Government doctors have traced paralytic polio in Camden, N.J., typhoid fever in Milwaukee, dysentery in Cincinnati, and yellow jaundice in Utah, all to polluted water. The Columbia River is so contaminated in some areas that mere motorboat spray can cause disease. In Washington, D. C., residents have been warned against eating fish caught in the Potomac, and swimming in the Potomac is now almost nonexistent.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas last week pointed out that the United States had permitted little Israel to get ahead of us in pioneering new sources of water.

Note — All the leading presidential contenders except Vice President Nixon have endorsed the pollution control program. Administrators of the program, meeting in Chicago on January 21, tried to get an endorsement from Nixon who happened to be in Chicago the same day. He refused to take a stand.

Freedom Requires Constant Renewal

WASHINGTON — It was 10 years ago that the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin let loose his charge that there were "205 Communists" in the State Department, initiating the thereby brief but tragic era that bears his name.

The 205 dropped to 81, to 57 and finally on the Senate floor to three cases McCarthy said he would prove. But it mattered little, since the senator had the headlines and under the strictures of objective reporting his words traveled far.

The fear that McCarthy exploited was not surprising in view of the Hiss case and the fact that Judith Coplon had been found passing out documents from inside the Department of Justice. What was surprising was that McCarthy went so far with so little.

While most Americans would probably like to forget the whole grisly mess, there are others who fear that the heritage of McCarthyism is still a damper on American freedom, conscience and initiative. This goes to the deep concern that Americans are being prosecuted not for any act but for what they profess to believe.

Last summer when the Communists staged a youth festival in Vienna, most young Americans who went there joined with Western Europeans to show what a phony propaganda operation this was. Yet, the House Un-American Activities Committee subpoenaed the handful of Americans who went to parrot the party line. They gave a few otherwise obscure and fanatical youths a forum to charge that the United States is repressing freedom of thought.

The Supreme Court struck down security procedures which had proliferated so rapidly in defense industry. This was on the score that the accused was not permitted to confront his accuser and injustices were often done. There is an effort today to reinstitute these procedures in a modified form that may get by the court. In many fields the security process has been institutionalized.

The ghost of McCarthyism haunts the political campaign. Many Democrats, among them Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, believe that Sen. John F. Kennedy, the front runner for the presidential nomination, failed to face up to the McCarthy issue in the Senate. His supporters say that while he was unable to vote on the censure resolution, he has repeatedly cast his votes against McCarthyist measures and is today an active opponent of the student loyalty oath.

In New Hampshire, the fiefdom of Sen. Styles Bridges, one of Vice President Nixon's principal backers, a one-man un-American activities crusade by State Attorney General Louis Wyman resulted in jail sentences in two instances in which the American Civil Liberties Union intervened. The ACLU charged that in both cases the charge involved freedom of thought and liberty of conscience rather than any overt act. Through all the McCarthy imbroglio, Nixon in public walked a wary line.

Undoubtedly, the atmosphere has cleared and one evidence is a reexamination of conscience. With the clearing atmosphere, there is a growing realization that freedom is not something we periodically pat ourselves on the back about. It is a creative act to be constantly renewed.

Wonders Of The Universe

A popular and expensive industrial hobby being pursued today is the building of simulators in an effort to reproduce conditions on the moon. These devices are being built to test the ability of men and animals to live on the unfriendly lunar landscape.

In one simulator men have remained for eight days in an experiment to discover how men would react to one another in a restricted area for an extended period of time.

In another simulator, scientists have tried to check the effect of space radiations on plant life. In still another simulator, investigators plan to put men, animals and plant life in a closed chamber to see whether it is feasible for these to live harmoniously and continuously with one another in what the scientist calls a "closed ecological cycle."

As long as man remains on earth, he can live with with his environment and with his fellow man. We have been doing it for millions of years. Once he leaves the earth, he is in trouble. It is for this reason that concerted thought has been devoted to the ability of man to live in a strange environment.

A four-story sphere has been devised which may be the prototype of a permanent base to be set up on the moon. Under the direction of Dr. James G. Gaume, chief of the Space Medicine Program at Denver, a "full scale" lunar housing simulator will be built by the Martin Company.

These scientists believe that lunar simulators must be built now. To wait until we reach the moon is to court disaster. This puts a premium on the work going on today to prepare man for extended lunar stays.

The Martin simulator will be housed in a 32-foot steel sphere with an atmospheric pressure of about seven pounds per square inch. This is equivalent to the pressure on an 18,000 foot mountain. The outer sphere will be 55-feet in diameter and the pressure of the atmosphere here will be equivalent to a height of 100,000 feet from the surface of the earth.

The top floor of the simulator will contain hydroponic benches for growing plants. This is a fairly well understood process in which nutrients are dissolved in water, and the plant receives the essential materials for growth directly from the water. In addition to furnishing food, the plants will also absorb carbon dioxide. The plant life will be selected to yield maximum food value and still be acceptable to both humans and animals as food.

The third floor will house algae cultures, animal farms and laboratories. Here will be found the Photosynthetic Gas Exchanger. The cabin atmosphere will be pumped through the algae tanks which through photosynthesis will convert water and carbon dioxide into carbohydrates and free oxygen.

Experiments indicate that algae is the most efficient plant for this purpose. It is proposed that the algae be fed with solutions of reprocessed plant and animal wastes. In turn, by their growth, the algae provide additional nutrient to be fed back into the closed cycle in the simulator.

The system will maintain the balance of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. Odors and traces of toxic gases may be removed by treatment with activated charcoal. Humidity standards will be maintained with excess humidity being removed by freezing — the resulting ice to form a source of pure water.

Pigs, chickens and even cattle may be included here for a check on the animals' ability to live under these conditions.

Beneath this floor will be quarters for the five men who will live in the device for a month or more. Here the human complement will eat, sleep and relax and maintain contact with the outer world. From a psychological point of view this will be the most important floor in the device.

The bottom level, on the base of the sphere, will contain tanks, pumps, mechanical equipment and, perhaps, some of the necessary supplies.

An elevator to reach all floors will constitute the vertical core of the simulator.

Within the next ten years man will be on the moon. Once he is there, scientists plan to keep him alive and well with information from the simulators now being built and used in many parts of the country.

Always With Us

Lincoln, Neb.

Perhaps M. S. Daily (Feb. 11 Star) can explain this. He says TV corrupts the minds of children, that they pattern themselves according to the bad. This seems rather far-fetched because there are also many educational and good stories.

Children having good parents and good home training already have their examples set for them and look upon wrong with clear heads and understanding. Good and bad are life. One learns to accept the one and bypass the other. To be ignorant of crime is being unprepared to deal with it. Children should learn in this mad struggle of living that it takes far more courage and strength of character to be good than to follow the few who go astray. There always have been and always will be social misfits, and with no helpful suggestions from TV programs. It seems childish to blame these programs for today's corruption, when the real "key" lies within ourselves.

The weak will always be with us, and if every TV show were closed, crime would go on. Being good is within one's self.

Frank Morrison

Lincoln, Neb.

I was interested in reading the article in regard to Mr. Bernard Boyle and the highway problem in the February 11 Star. It only proves further that he has had more than a hand in this and from all I have learned, his nosiness goes far and beyond the job of national committeeman.

It has been a good thing for the people of Nebraska that we had a candidate with the courage of Frank Morrison to bring some of these things to light. I am also amused that Conrad and his cohorts criticized Morrison for filing for this job of governor of our great state before the present governor has made any announcement, but still Conrad allows this ridiculous "rigged draft movement" to go on, knowing full well he has every intention of filing. I have discovered that even the Democrats see through this Boyle-Brooks-Conrad combination.

This is one Lincolnite and Nebraskan who is proud to be a supporter of a man who is honest, intelligent, and above all, who is interested in Nebraska and Nebraskans above himself and his own gain—Lincoln's own Frank Morrison.

Broken Homes

Lincoln, Neb.

Referring to the letter published February 10 and signed "Mrs. E." and pertaining to child support laws, I wish to express my opinion in the matter.

I would say that 60 per cent of the women now receiving child support payments should be investigated, as it has been proven and newspaper items printed recently have verified that children are not receiving their proper benefits from this source. In the first place, too many women are rearing families just to draw these support payments. As long as we have "old sob-sisters" for judges instead of understanding young men, and these judges grant divorce decrees for minor reasons when actually all the women want are other mates, the public is not going to be concerned in the hiring of Mr. Graves.

The mothers are definitely not playing the mother role by depriving their children of the need of their father. In cases of desertion, the fathers should be brought before the law and forced to contribute to their children's support.

Legislation should be passed requiring a maximum period of time to elapse before a divorce is granted and when a woman remarries, she should not be allowed to receive alimony or child support.

No, the city is just throwing away money in the hiring of Mr. Graves when all we need is better legislation and men and women who follow the rules of the churches, namely God's laws, on divorce. Remember, children are the only ones who suffer from broken homes.

Who Is To Blame?

Kimball, Neb.

Why are the Young Republicans denounced as responsible for useless programs and needless jobs in governmental affairs? It is a well known fact that it was Franklin D. Roosevelt who started the New Deal in 1932, and Truman followed up when he got to the trough.

Did anyone pay any attention to ex-President Hoover when he was elected and tried to tell what was wrong with the government? No. He found too much government. Too many job-holders are what ails the country today. Too many of these patriots wave the flag with one hand while the other hand they keep in the government treasury. They fix their own pay and elaborate pensions, while the man in the street is refused old age pensions.

If Mr. Truman had not canned Mr. Wallace and had kept MacArthur in Korea, we would have peace today. They'd better leave Mr. Truman at home in Missouri during the Democratic convention or he is likely to ball things up once more.

Modern 'C' Rations Far Cry From WW II

. . . OTOE FOOD PRODUCER

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Nebraska City—Any foxhole arguments these days over C rations would be way above the "beef stew or hash" level of World War II.

The corporal would probably get the fruit cake and the PFC would have to be content—for war is still hell—with pound cake.

Those are the two main Army rations being turned out now at the Otoe Food Products Co. here, and most everyone agrees that both are far superior to the 3 canned items of the old C rations — corned beef hash, beef stew and beans and wieners.

Comparatively New

Other items comparatively new to a GI's menu are beefsteak and potatoes, and kidney beans and ham. Date pudding and ham'n eggs were introduced somewhere along the way, and company officials say the latter item is "good enough for anybody's fishing trip."

MULLEN . . . 'long ways from stew.' (Star Staff Photo)

The fruit cake (65% pure fruit) has proved especially popular with servicemen, according to Karl Nelson, Otoe president.

"A flier wrote from India praising the product and asking where he could buy it himself," he commented. "The pound cake is also a good item, made like mother's old recipe called for — a pound of this and a pound of that."

Baked In Paper

The small cakes are baked in paper cups before being canned, automatic machines measuring the right amount of dough. The cans themselves haven't changed from the old olive drab of original C rations.

Most of the Nebraska City firm's production now is for regular retail consumption, however, and you won't find the fruit cake or pound cake on the grocer's shelf. More than 40 items are now canned under the Morton House and Finest labels, according to vice president J. D. Mullen, with baked beans being a leader.

The company had a 1959 payroll of about $1 million, with 285 persons employed. Selling in only 10 states a decade ago, the firm now is in 38 and expects to break into the highly competitive Los Angeles market next month.

Just in case the modern soldier tires of fruit and pound cake, a government advisory board on which Mullen serves is continually experimenting with other baked goods. For example, Otoe hopes to land a government contract soon for baking bread and canning it.

Brooks Quotes Einstein In Christian-Jew Talks

. . . 5th Annual At Fremont

Fremont (AP) — Gov. Ralph Brooks quoted from Einstein Sunday in the keynote address to the 5th annual meeting of the Nebraska Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Brooks said the only defense today is in the hearts of men and as a result, the work of the conference and its education for brotherhood program is of "first importance."

John Smith, a student at Omaha South High School, gave a young person's view of democracy.

Neil Danberg, regional director of the National Conference of Christian and Jews, gave the challenge for the meeting.

"'The respect of the dignity of the individual and community cooperation are values on which our democracy depends," he said, "and to deny them or destroy them is a desperate and costly maneuver.

"'It chips away at the foundations of our American way of life and is the denial of the spirit of brotherhood," the Omahan said.

Makes Plea

The National Conference of Christians and Jews calls upon civic and religious leaders in Nebraska to act firmly and in the spirit of unity and good neighborliness to prevent suspicion and disharmony from erupting in our local communities, The Rev. Danberg said.

Three panel discussions were held during the meeting, one on education, another on minority problems and a third on fair elections.

Valentine's Day Accords Plenty Work

. . . At Valentine

Valentine (AP)—Sunday was Valentine's Day and for Postmaster Douglas Hammon of Valentine it means the end of a busy period.

Each year thousands of Valentines are sent to Valentine for cancelling, then resent to their destination. The Sand Hills town is the only Valentine in the United States.

Hammon said the number of Valentines was down this year, probably because collectors have received theirs in previous years—and since the cards must be sent first class, they cost at least 4 cents each.

The Valentine postoffice, though, processed more than 2,500 from all the 50 states and from England. In addition, local residents usually send 5,000 or more of the greetings.

The Valentine postoffice's record was set in 1948, when some 18,000 Valentines were cancelled and sent on.

Plenty Spring Signs Are Eyed At Chadron

Chadron (AP) — There are more than the usual signs of spring at Chadron in the normally cold and snowy northwest corner of Nebraska:

Mrs. John Reading reported her tulips are about two inches out of the ground.

Mrs. Wilbert Clark said a flock of robins flew into her yard. And Dr. and Mrs. Jack Hawley saw a flock of about 30 fat robins in trees in their yard.

A BEVY OF BRIDES

MRS. WILLIAM A. WEYGINT

At an 11 o'clock ceremony on Saturday morning, Feb. 13, the marriage of Miss Jean Elaine Vejraska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vejraska, to William A. Weygint, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weygint, took place at Sacred Heart Church. The Rev. Howard Hart solemnized the service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Katherine Gillespie. John Moran was the vocal soloist.

The attendants included Mrs. Larry Grage, the matron of honor; Mrs. James McDonald of Omaha, the bridesmatron, and Miss Peggy Garrison, the junior bridesmaid.

Richard Weygint served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were James McDonald of Omaha; Jerry Schnell and Bernard Weygint.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white taffeta. The long-sleeved, sculptured bodice was designed with a deep yoke of Venise lace embroidered with pearls and sequins.

Following the reception, held at Tillman's Plaza, Mr. Weygint and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Winter Park, Fla. Upon their return they will reside in Lincoln.

Mr. Weygint is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

White-Althouse

For the wedding of Miss Marlene White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip White of Madison, and Arthur Althouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Althouse, which took place Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, crimson carnations and white chrysanthemums appointed the altar of Trinity Lutheran Church at Madison. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. W. J. Oetting, and Edward Martin of Lincoln, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Martin was the vocal soloist.

The matron of honor and her sister's only attendant was Mrs. Robert Martz of Norco, Calif., who wore a full-skirted frock of red velvet in the daytime mode. A matching bow of velvet trimmed her small white hat and she carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Donald Althouse served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Jerald White of Norfolk, brother of the bride, and Eugene Maahs, Walton. Kenneth White of Madison, also a brother of the bride, lighted the chancel candles.

The bride chose a gown of white silk taffeta for her wedding. Long, tapered sleeves and a rounded neckline framed by petal appliques of jeweled Alencon lace highlighted the shirred bodice of silk, and the lace appliques were repeated on the wide skirt which extended into a train below a pouf bustle-bow. An Empire crown of pearls and sequins held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible showered with red rosebuds.

The couple will reside on a farm near Waverly. The bride has been employed in Lincoln, and Mr. Althouse is a veteran of the Armed Forces with which he served in Korea.

Monia-Sturn

At a 3 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, the marriage of Miss Mona L. Monia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Vyrle Monia, to Robert Sturn, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sturn of Bismarck, N.D., took place at the Northeast Community Church. The Rev. Milton Laib solemnized the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. George Young. Burt Finke was the vocal soloist.

The alike costumes of the attendants, including Mrs. William Epperson of Wichita, Kan, the matron of honor, and Miss Vyrla Kay Monia, the maid of honor, were fashioned of red velveteen. With their frocks, designed in the after five length, they carried nosegays of red and white carnations. Renee Young of Seward was the flower girl, and Alan Epperson was the ringbearer.

James Nelson served as best man, and the guests were seated by Ralph Hartzell of Harrisburg, Pa., and Gordon Gowdy.

The bride appeared in a grown of Chantilly lace over satin. The long-sleeved bodice, designed with a low, rounded neckline contoured with scallops, and patterned with seed pearl embroidery, was snugly fitted above a bouffant skirt which extended into a cathedral train. Her veil was held to the head with a crown of pearls, and she carried red roses on a white Bible.

Following the service a reception was held in the church parlors.

Mr. Sturn and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Towne Club.

Garner-Goike

At a candlelight service solemnized early Sunday evening, Feb. 14, Miss Judy Ann Garner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Garner, became the bride of Ted Goike, son of Mrs. Stanley Goike. All-white gladioli appointed the altar of Vine Congregational Church for the ceremony which was read by the Rev. Verne A. Spindell. Mrs. P. C. Swift, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Sandi Kay Gibson, vocalist.

Wearing afternon frocks of petal pink jersey sashed with red chiffon were Mrs. Jack Curtis of Omaha, as the matron of honor; the maid of honor, Miss Judy Swindle; and the bridesmaid, Miss Linda Garner, sister of the bride. They carried heart-shaped bouquets of feathered carnations in pink and red. Miss Sharon Witt and Miss Mary Kay Rowen lighted the candles.

Jack Curtis of Omaha served Mr. Goike as best man, and the ushers were Noel Fulk, Bob Simon, Tad Dunham and Mike Carver.

The bride wore for her wedding a waltz-length gown of white Chantilly lace and chiffon. The lace smoothed over satin fashioned the fitted, long-sleeved bodice which was accented by a fitted, long-sleeved bodice scalloped throatline, and below the slim waist, the chiffon skirt was shirred into extreme fullness. Imported lace draped in the mantilla mode completed her ensemble, and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Goike will make their home at 1623 C.

Wallick-Manthey

The chancel of Epworth Methodist Church was lighted by tall white candles and decorated with red carnations and gladioli for the Sunday evening Feb. 14, wedding of Miss Barbara Lee Wallick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wallick, and T. Sgt. Richard E. Manthey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Manthey of Natrona Heights, Pa. The lines of the 8 o'clock service were read by the Rev. J. C. Lowson in the presence of 200 guests.

Frocked in Valentine red taffeta with matching tiaras and carrying nosegays of red and white carnations were Miss Barbara Lautzenheiser, as the maid of honor; Miss Bernice Aksamit of Wilber, the bridesmaid; and Mrs. Richard Dormer, the bridesmatron. Miss Bette Garber of Seward, and Miss Susan Hoy, in white taffeta, were the junior bridesmaids.

Ron Wallick served as best man, and the corps of ushers included Roger Wallick, Jack Hoy and Gene Strauch, all of Lincoln, and William Gademan, New York City.

White tulle and Chantilly lace were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The lace, sprinkled with pearls and iridescent paillettes, appliqued the tulle bodice to form the deep yoke and flaring Queen Anne collar, and continued over the shoulder into long, fitted sleeves, and the wide skirt was fashioned of tiers of tulle edged with lace. Her illusion veil was held by a Victorian crown of pearls, and she carried an arrangement of red roses.

The bride is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University. Sgt. Manthey is stationed with the Armed Forces at Wichita, Kan.

Kahland-Dreith

For the wedding of Miss Karen Kay Kahland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kahland of Neligh, and David J. Dreith, son of Mrs. Harry Dreith of Lincoln, which took place on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, the chancel of the St. Paul Lutheran Church in Neligh was appointed with arrangements of lavender-toned carnations. The 2:30 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Reentz, and Miss Elvera Suhr who played the wedding music, also accompanied the vocal soloist, DeLoyd Larsen of Lincoln.

Amethyst velveteen, designed in the ballerina length was chosen for the alike frocks of the attendants, Mrs. DeLoyd Larsen, the matron of honor and sister of the bridegroom, and bridesmaids Miss Rosalie Stewart of Lincoln and Miss Ginger McDonald. Each wore a hair bandeau of frock-toned velvet, and each carried a bouquet of lavender carnations. Jan Owen of Tilden was the flower girl, and Steve Osborne of Tilden was the ringbearer. The candles were lighted by Randy and Dwight Rodgers.

Howard A. Brown of Tarkio, Mo., served as best man, and seating the guests were Jack Mason of Lincoln and Douglas Kahland, brother of the bride.

The bridal gown of imported Chantilly lace was designed with a long sleeved bodice in which a sheer yoke was completed with a jewelled petal collar. The extremely full skirt was fashioned with a back panel of ruffles which extended to hem length. A pearl crown held to the head her elbow-length veil of illusion, and she carried a pinnacle bouquet of roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

Mr. Dreith and his bride will reside at 1250 Otoe St., Lincoln.

MRS. WILBERT R. NECHIPORENKO

Lighted candles and arrangements of red and white gladioli appointed the chancel of the First Southern Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Kathryn Elaine Sprout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Miller, and Wilbert R. Nechiporenko, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nechiporenko of Butte, N.D., which took place on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14. The 3 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Gerald Swagerty of the Immanuel Baptist Church, and Mrs. William Patterson played the wedding music. Miss Virginia Hodgins was the vocal soloist.

Wearing a waltz-length frock of silk organza in the coral tone was Miss Helen Wipf, the maid of honor, whose bouquet of carnations matched the shade of her frock. The bridesmaid, Miss Laura Nechiporenko of Columbus, O., sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid, and her frock was fashioned of blue tulle over taffeta. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations. The candles were lighted by John and Albert Miller, brothers of the bride.

Charles Hansen served as best man, and seating the guests were Richard Nechiporenko, Merl David, and Del Patterson.

Chantilly lace over taffeta was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The long-sleeved bodice was designed with a square neckline framed with a motif of sequins, and the wide, ballerina-length skirt was patterned with scallops at the hem. A satin tiara, embroidered with pearls and sequins, held in place her veil, and she carried red roses on a white Bible.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Nechiporenko and his bride will reside at 4529 Holdrege St.

Around The Town

—It paid to get up this morning. All sorts of interesting things went on around town during the week end.

First we learned of the trek to Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn., where Shattuck's Winter Carnival was in progress.

Chartering a pullman and taking off on Friday night for Minnesota were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Anderson, whose son, Roger, is a Shattuck senior this year; Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, whose son, Harry, is a Shattuck student; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson who have two sons at Shattuck—David and Bob—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson who also are the parents of a Shattuck student; Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl, whose son, John, attends Shattuck; Dr. and Mrs. Hiram Hilton who have a son at Shattuck, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sidles. Mr. and Mrs. Sidles no longer have a specific interest in the Winter Carnival since their son, Frank Sidles, was graduated from there a half-dozen years ago, but they went along for the fun.

—And while some were leaving, others were coming. We hear that Mrs. Gilbert Caughran and her two daughters, Kay and Nancy, arrived in Lincoln a day or two ago, and are spending a little time here as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Blazek. Mrs. Caughran and her daughters left Lincoln three years ago to reside in Pakistan where Mr. Caughran was with the U.S. Soil Conservation, and this is their first trip home. We should add that the Caughrans are delighted with Pakistan and as a matter of fact like it so much that Mr. Caughran, who has gone from government work to a business firm, will be there for at least another five years.

Mrs. Caughran will be remembered in golfing circles as president of the Pioneer Women's Golf Association, and on Friday evening some of her old golfing and bowling companions were invited for an evening of bridge at the home of Mrs. Harvey Kaufman.

The visitors came to Lincoln from the west coast where they visited their son and brother, Jim Caughran, who is attending the University of California at Berkeley—and Washington state where they spent several days with relatives.

Judy Adams Is Shower Honoree

There has been a tremendous wave of excitement since Friday morning—and the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Judy Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams, to George Woods (Chip) Haecker Jr., which will take place on Wednesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church.

No sooner was news of the forthcoming wedding out than plans for parties began.

One of the courtesies was a luncheon on Saturday for which Miss Diana Hale and Miss Ginger Schilling were hostesses at the home of Miss Schilling.

Sixteen guests were invited, and during the informal afternoon which followed the luncheon, the soon-to-be bride was presented with a personal shower.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a sailor with a problem. The problem is my uniform. My girlfriend's mother won't allow her to go out with servicemen. How can I convince this girl's mother that I am not a bad guy just because I wear a uniform? Please answer this in the paper as there are about a million other guys who would like to know. SAILOR

DEAR SAILOR: A man in uniform is usually "a stranger passing through". And most mothers are suspicious of ALL "strangers passing through" (be they servicemen or traveling salesmen) because they have been known to play a beautiful tune when they are in town, but are seldom around to face the music later. Unless servicemen are given the chance to meet the parents and pass muster, they must suffer for the sins of wolves in military clothing.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Why is it when a mother has lost a child, people will say to her, "Oh, I know what you are going through for I lost my mother or sister, etc." Any mother who has lost a child knows there is no comparison. Sincerely.
ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ONE: Those who express their sympathy in this way, THINK they know the depth of your sorrow. They are mistaken, of course. But they mean well.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOLORES: We both know that he is OLD enough to KNOW better. But the question is: "Is he STRONG enough to DO better?"

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed envelope.

ASK—

Dorothy Draper

Since so many letter-writers appear to have the same fireplace problem this seems like a good time to talk about it. So, yes, dear Mrs. Everybody, I believe in painting bricks, mantels . . . or any part of a fireplace to make it do what I want it to a room.

Sometimes a fireplace mantel may be ugly or too prominent; then I paint it the same color to blend with the wall. If it's a fine example of an Adam mantel, say, I would paint it white so that it would stand out to contract with the wall color.

I don't happen to like red brick around a fireplace, so I would paint that black with black heartstone. And when someone tut-tuts and says, "you'll ruin a beautiful old fireplace," I say, "just wait and see how the change will enhance the whole room." And it does! So don't be afraid to change anything, remove mantels or brush on paint, but do remember to use and enjoy your crackling fire!

Mrs. C. W. asks:

"With light mahogany end tables and chairs in our living room, is a dark mahogany baby grand out of place? Bleaching is too expensive and I am considering selling it. I would appreciate your advice."

Dear Mrs. C. W.:

Dark or light wood, to me a piano is never out of place. Don't sell it.

You would get almost nothing for it, and just think of the pleasure you have singing Christmas carols or your favorite songs. Let dark and light wood mix. Everything is so mechanical today, yet nothing can take the place of "live" music and good voices in your own living room.

Mrs. F. G. asks:

"Our living room is so somber looking and I have been thinking of getting some new living room furniture. The walls are light gray and the rug is also gray. Our television is in mahogany as is the coffee table and end tables. Would very much appreciate your suggestions as to color, etc. to give the room a warmer, cozier atmosphere."

Dear Mrs. F. G.:

Your room sounds all too gray day! You need a blue sky and sunshine treatment. How about a deep twlight-blue sofa, two sky blue chairs with touches of sunshine yellow in side chairs, accessories and pillows. Put a painting or decorative hanging with splashes of red on the wall over the television. This should cheer up your room for you!

Opening lead — ace of spades.

Here is a neat hand played in a national championship some years ago by Ray McGrover, former president of the American Contract Bridge League. It occurred just a few days after he was inaugurated in office.

McGrover got to five clubs doubled on the bidding sequence shown. East's two spade overcall was of the weak variety. West cashed two spades and shifted to a heart, taken with the ace.

There did not seem to be much to the play, but when a low club was led from dummy and East played low, declarer, not having X-ray eyes, went up with the ace only to learn that West was void.

This development created unexpected complications. McGrover could get to dummy twice with diamonds to lead through East's J-9-5, finessing each time and thus avoiding a trump loser, but if he did this he would still have a spade trick to lose.

And if, instead, he trumped a spade in dummy, he would be unable to lead trumps through East, and would lose a trump trick.

This dilemma was ingeniously solved by McGrover when he led a low diamond at trick five and played the ten from dummy. The finesse succeeded and the ten of clubs return was covered by the jack.

Another diamond to the queen was followed by a trump, trapping East's nine. Declarer then cashed two more clubs to bring about the following position:

McGrover led the eight of clubs and West was squeezed. A heart discard would establish dummy's jack, and a diamond would establish dummy's five. So McGrover made five clubs doubled.

ABOUT 220 LINCOLNITES SERVE ON 25 COMMITTEES, BOARDS OF CITY GOVERNMENT

By Virgil Falloon

Lincoln has some 25 committees, boards and commissions helping to ease the load for Mayor Pat Boyles and the City Council in the conduct of municipal government and affairs.

While these groups are mostly advisory in capacity, some have considerable latitude in administration and policy-making, subject to Council review.

Perhaps 220 Lincolnites (a few may be on more than one board) serve on these groups ranging in membership from two to 38 members.

They are appointed by the City Council except in instances where the board performs a dual function and membership is appointed jointly with the County Board.

These groups exist by resolution, by ordinance, by charter and in the case of city-county boards through enabling state legislation.

Planning Agency

Of considerable influence and responsibility is the City-County Planning and Zoning Commission whose evolution is also of interest.

Created in 1948 as a city commission by ordinance, it acquired charter status in 1959 with electorate approval and almost simultaneously was created as a joint commission through appropriate city and county action under an enabling act.

Also of the joint-type is the Board of Health and the Civil Defense Advisory Committee.

All board and commission members serve without pay. Many have professions, specialized skills, or training which contribute to the decisions and recommendations of the groups.

Scheduled Meetings

Perhaps a majority of the advisory groups have regularly scheduled meetings, some conduct public hearings, while others meet as business arises or special assignments are referred to the group by the Council.

A few are on a "standby basis," having completed previously-assigned work.

The city also has 4 boards of examiners: electrical, plumbing, warm air heating, and stationary.

In the past, the city has had several committees on airport and aviation matters, but their functions have been superseded by the City Airport Authority, created in 1959.

Several other groups, which were dissolved after their work was completed, was the Water Advisory Board, City Committee To Study Street Improvements, O Street Viaduct Committee, Citizens Off-Street Parking Committee, and Council Committee To Study Space For Parking Cars On City Property.

Description

A list of major groups, number of members, chairman, and job description, is:

—Board of Zoning Appeals; 5; Robert Russell, chairman; advisory board on matters of waiver of zoning requirements other than use.

—Auditorium Advisory Committee; 7; Richard Chapin, chairman! advises auditorium management on matters of service and policy.

—City-County Health Board; 10; Dr. Frank Stone, president; determines service and policy and budget control.

—City-County Civil Defense Committee; 10; William F. Swanson, chairman; determines service and policy and budget control.

—City Housing Authority; 5; Nate Holman, chairman; supervises housing on the city-owned property at Huskerville.

—Hospital Board; 9; Robert Guenzel, president; determines service and policy and budget control.

—Mayor's Council on Human Relations; 12 members; no chairman; advisory board to the mayor and council on matters relating to human relations.

—City-County Building Authority; 5; C. C. Kimball, chairman; now largely advisory in capacity but would have administrative and policy functions if a city-county building is built.

—Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee; 11; Dr. Frank Court, chairman; serves in advisory capacity.

—City Library Board; 9; George Holyoke, president; determines service and policy and budget control.

—City Personnel Board; 5; Willard Townsend, chairman; hears appeals and advises on service and policy.

—City-County Planning Commission; 9; E. J. Faulkner, chairman; hears zoning requests and makes recommendations to Council and advises on planning and policy.

—City Park and Recreation Board; 10; Max Roper, chairman; advisory board to the Council on matters of parks and recreation.

—Solicitations Committee; 5; Max Meyer, chairman; handles approval of financial solicitations within the city with advisory capacity.

—Power Advisory Board; 5; R. E. Campbell, chairman; advisory board to the Council on municipal power matters.

—Lincoln Traffic Commission; 1[illegible]; Judge Harry Spencer, chairman; advisory broad to the City Council on traffic problems.

—Charter Amendment Committee; 1[illegible]; Frank D. Williams, chairman; advisory committee to the Council on city charter revisions and amendments. Currently inactive but standing.

—City Air-Base Co-ordinating Council; 15; Max Kier, chairman; advisory board to Council on public relations with the Lincoln Air Force Base.

—Youth Fitness Committee for Lincoln; 21 members; Dr. John Thompson, chairman (appointed by mayor); advisory group serving to encourage physical fitness in youths.

—Mayor's Committee For Employment of the Handicapped; 35; Joe E. Cook, chairman; advisory committee for the employment of the handicapped.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

"There is little night life in San Salvador," said the taxi driver. "But what there is, is very agreeable."

We were shooting downhill from the newer part of the city. Since it is down all the way, the drivers simply put the car out of gear and turn the key. When we arrive at the central part, we put on the brakes.

While we waited for the night life to begin—"The artistas are people of temperament, Senor"—we drove in the old town.

The fiesta of Candelaria was on. And in the narrow streets, the people of the old Barrio of Candelaria carried their Virgin in a procession of lighted candles, wreathed in green leaves.

There was a warm tropic smell in the air.

I flew in from Guatemala on a crowded flight. A huge meeting of the InterAmerican Bank is on. The new and modern Hotel Intercontinental was jammed, from swimming pool to seventh deck of balconies.

A tourist department lady handed me a folder: "Come and Enjoy Yourself in El Salvador!"

"How can I enjoy myself if I have no room?"

"You must make reservations, Senor. What is your business?"

"I am a journalist, Senorita."

"And you write of the bank conferencia?"

"Absolutely," I said, hastily assigning myself to the bank conference. After all, I am always down giving my banker my marker. Do I know banks!

The lady then phoned the hotel. She said the world's foremost journalist needed a room. Now.

While we waited for the vida nocturna to begin, we had a glass of the excellent Salvador beer.

The driver did not think much of the conference.

"If the money goes for industry, agriculture, good. But in Central America, money often goes for arms to keep the Presidents in power. What do you pay for your hotel room?"

"I pay $10 a day."

"I make 4 colones—$1.60 a day. How do you bankers know my problems?"

"I am not a banker. I work for newspapers."

"Less bad," said the driver. "Still you pay $10 a day."

He looked at the clock and said the vida nocturna would now commence. We drove over to a side street and entered. Apparently we woke the waiters for they got up yawning.

We were the only ones in the place. It looked a little like an ice cream parlor—a windowed refrigerator was its main ornament. At a table in the back, a lady with pin-curlers in her hair was eating dinner and reading the paper.

"The artista," hissed the driver. "A gallant lady."

"When does she perform?"

"Who knows? They are temperamental."

However, he allowed me to buy him a rum with tropical lime. The waiter said the show would begin at midnight. And since it was only 11, I had myself driven back to the hotel. Another hour of the vida nocturna, I thought, and I would be exhausted.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) – For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain – without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all – this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) – the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Basketball's Top Plums Waiting To Be Plucked

NCAA, NIT Tournaments Still Waiting For Teams

By The Associated Press

It's title tournament and wait'll-next-year time in college basketball, with most of the post-season plums still waiting to be picked. And things could start poppin' this week.

Seven of the 12 berths are yet to be filled for the National Invitation Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden March 10-19.

Not one of the 14 conference races that pay off with an automatic berth in the sprawling NCAA tournament (March 7-19) has been decided. And only two of the 12 at-large teams have been selected.

On top of that, there's the little matter of picking the champion of the Associated Press poll, a decision which may have to be postponed until March 9 when top-ranked Cincinnati and second-ranked Bradley could be forced to scrap for the Missouri Valley Conference title in a neutral court playoff.

Pair Have Jump

At the moment, a pair of eastern clubs, St. John's and St. Bonaventure, have the jump among non-conference teams driving for a tournament. Both likely will join already named Dayton, Detroit, Memphis State, Villanova and Providence in the NIT.

St. John's (14-5), defending NIT champ, spilled 5th-ranked West Virginia last week and then ran its winning streak to 8 with an 83-64 job on Fordham.

St. Bonaventure (13-3), led by 49 points from Tom (29) and Sam (20) Stith, made it 10 straight with an 83-75 victory over Duquesne, the club that upset Dayton.

Miami Accepts

Tenth ranked Miami of Florida (20-3) has accepted an at-large bid to an NCAA's first round game at Lexington, Ky. The Hurricanes, joined previously named NYU, headed for a first-round game at New York.

Bradley (19-1) regained a tie with idle Cincinnati for the Mo-Valley lead with a 16-2 spurt midway in the second half and a 68-63 victory at Drake.

The Braves, who have won 12 in a row, and the Bearcats (19-1) each have 5 conference games to play, and if Bradley can make it at St. Louis the two leaders probably still will be deadlocked.

That would force the playoff, at a site to be named, between the two clubs who have been beaten only by each other. The winner goes to the NCAA, and the runner-up likely will go to the NIT.

Third-ranked California (19-1), the defending NCAA champ, tightened its hold on Big 5 title by whipping runner-up UCLA 53-45 for a 10-game streak.

The Bears will make the NCAA as an at-large entry, however, since the conference falls short of the minimum membership required for NCAA recognition.

Bucks Win 10th

Fourth-ranked Ohio State (17-2) made it 10 in a row and stayed unbeaten in the Big 10 with a 75-47 homecourt job on Iowa. The Buckeyes, who got 28 points from Jerry Lucas, have 5 to play, 4 on the road beginning at Illinois tonight.

West Virginia and Virginia Tech are tied for first in the Southern Conference, which stages its title-NCAA berth tournament at Richmond Feb. 25-27.

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Fleck, Los Angeles, and Bill Collins of Crystal River, Fla., Sunday were deadlocked for the lead after 72 holes of play in the $22,500 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Fleck, who hasn't won a major tournament since the 1955 U.S. Open, fired a 5-under-par 66 to come from 3 strokes off the pace.

Collins, who started this final round of the tournament tied for first, finished with a two-under-par 69. That gave each 273—eleven under par.

An 18-hole playoff is scheduled today over the 6,585-yard Phoenix Country Club course.

Two strokes back at 275 were little Jerry Barber, Los Angeles and Frank Stranahan, Crystal River, Fla. Each collected $1,475.

Ken Venturi of San Francisco, who teed off in a deadlock for first, slipped to a one-over-par 72 and finished at 276.

Fleck seemed to have the top money of $3,150 in his hip pocket after the 15th hole.

Holy Name Again Headed For State

. . . Ramblers Take B Lead; Minden Tumbles

By Al Beebe

Omaha Holy Name, a familiar sight in recent state basketball tournaments, appears headed for a 6th straight berth in the Coliseum show.

The Ramblers, hit hard by graduation last spring, nevertheless have racked up a 12-2 season record and gain the No. 1 spot in Class B this week.

Holy Name edged strong Class A rival Omaha Cathedral, 52-51, on Friday and then really rolled at Auburn Saturday night, 88-39.

The Ramblers of Coach Bob Gates won Class A titles in 1955-57-58. They lost first round games to champion Falls City in 1956 and to Holdrege last year.

Eickholt In Past

In recent years, Holy Name was dominated by the play of big Bob Eickholt, one of the fiercest competitors seen in Coliseum prep play, and a 2-time All-Stater.

Holy Name has progressed rapidly through the season, and Gates has been somewhat pleasantly surprised.

"At the beginning of the year, we were down a bit from the past few years," says Gates. "But these kids work hard, and now we're better than I thought we'd be."

Gates has an able replacement for Eickholt in Chuck Sladovnik, at 6-4 taller than Eickholt but not as brawny. Sladovnik has been a consistently top scorer and outstanding rebounder. He hit 32 at Auburn.

Denny Schiltz, a 5-10 senior, and 6-1½ junior Tom Smith are the only other lettermen from last year's Ramblers.

Gates has juggled his lineup considerably during the season, but Steve Balkovec, 5-11 sophomore, and Jerry Miller, 6-0 senior, have been other starters recently.

Minden Drops

The Ramblers moved to the top of the B roster when Minden tumbled at University High, 55-52. Minden beat Holy Name on the Whippet floor, 55-51. The only other Holy Name loss was in the season opener with Council Bluffs AbeLynx.

Minden's loss was only part of a week of upsets which saw the B ranks undergo a juggling of earthquake proportions, especially in the lower half of the list.

York also passed Minden, which fell to 3rd. Ralston and Holdrege held their 4-5 places. Geneva, which has now won 9 straight, jumped two notches to 6th.

Ogallala Slips

Ogallala, which lost at oft-beaten Class A Lexington, fell a notch to 7th.

Blair climbed back on the No. 8 rung.

Central City also returned by beating Albion and Ord, while Ord took No. 10 by downing Broken Bow before losing at Central City.

Cozad, in the list at 7th last week, lost at Gothenburg, which turned around and lost by 10 points to Broken Bow Saturday night. Gothenburg was 9th a week ago, and Wayne, No. 10 last week, lost to another C club, Wisner, and tumbled from the list, completing a fall from 3rd in 3 weeks.

KEEPING SCORE

Star Sports Staff Writer

'Abolish Top Ten'

Writes Joe Bodis of Lincoln:

"Your Top Ten should be abolished. If after watching Omaha Benson play Lincoln High you can rate them a spot in the Top Ten, something's wrong. It should be an honor to make the Top Ten. As it stands there aren't enough good teams that deserve a rating. Now if you aren't in the Top Ten you don't have anything in the way of basketball talent."

Mr. Bodis isn't the only one who finds it difficult to find 10 worthy teams. While doing the ratings, I usually go through a pile of record cards and discard those which don't deserve to be rated.

I sometimes wind up with Omaha South, and that's all.

But abolishing the top 10 wouldn't settle the problem. If it was a Top 5, or Top 3, or Top 2, there would be times when there weren't enough deserving teams. Or, at least, so it would seem.

Being in the top 10 certainly is an honor. Undoubtedly, it is more of an honor in some years than in others. But I haven't thought this was a particularly poor year. Not an especially good year, either.

It must be remembered that the top 10 can never set a certain quality which must be attained before any team, in any year, can make the list. This would mean setting up impossible standards, which would be impossible to judge.

The top 10 is, and can only be, a list of the top teams at the time. Their quality is relative only to the quality of the rest of the teams in the state.

Can Still Have Talent

But it is still true that teams not in the select list can boast plenty of talent, as some rated teams will tell you.

For instance, Beatrice was ranked 10th before journeying west to be knocked off, 53-36, at North Platte. The Platters are a prime example of a team which is unlikely to gain a spot in the ratings, but has a good chance of making the state tournament.

North Platte lost its first 5 games, but is 5-4 since then. With the district tournament on its own floor, the Platters have an excellent state tourney opportunity.

Furthermore, wins over such as Beatrice, Grand Island and Scottsbluff mean that North Platte could well make a respectable state tourney showing.

Fremont is in the same boat. After losing 7 straight, the Tigers turned around to win 4 straight in the Big 10. In the same district with Boys Town, Creighton Prep and Omaha Westside, Fremont also has a good shot at state tourney honors. And wins over Hastings and Norfolk are impressive.

It's a mistake to count a non-Top 10 team out of the race too soon.

VELLOFF'S CHANCES ARE SLIM

The 6-4 transfer from St. Louis University joined the chase after his club had already played 7 games.

Since then, however, he's tossed in 222 points in 6 contests to earn No. 8 berth among the NCC's top 10.

At the same clip over his last 5 outings, Velloff would wind up with 407 points and still trail Nebraska Wesleyan's Rudy Stoehr by a considerable margin.

Velloff has productions of 33, 52, 38, 30, 26 and 43 to his credit for a 37 points per game average. Leaders:

Big Week For Big 8 Leaders

By The Associated Press

A rough week lies ahead for the front runners in the scorching Big 8 Conference basketball chase.

The Kansas State Wildcats, who beat Missouri 89-80 Saturday to regain a tie with Colorado for the lead at 6-2, play at Iowa State tonight and then tangle with the reviving Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday.

Colorado entertains Missouri tonight before meeting the challenging Kansas Jayhawks Saturday.

The Jayhawks, very much in the race at 5-3 following a 64-52 victory over Oklahoma State, have to do business at Oklahoma tonight before taking on Colorado.

In other Saturday clashes Oklahoma will be at Iowa State and Oklahoma State at Missouri.

Kansas State built up a 50-38 lead over Missouri by halftime last Saturday, then beat down a mild Tiger rally. Missouri kept in the game by making 40 free throws of a possible 53.

Wally Frank was Kansas State's biggest scorer with 22 points but it was Sonny Ballard, entering the game late, who provided the fireworks that shut off the Missouri bid.

Iowa State continued its skid by losing 69-49 to Nebraska. The loss dropped Iowa State, Big 8 tournament champion, to 4-5 and out of the pennant picture.

Plainsmen Haven't Clinched Title Yet

. . . Last-Minute Commotions Still Remain

By Paul LeBar

Hold on a while before placing the crown of success on the dome of Nebraska Wesleyan.

Last-minute commotions may make the Nebraska College Conference wind-up wildest in the loop's history.

Wesleyan, astride a 6-game win streak, has Hastings and Chadron twice to engage on the road. All 3 games are rated tough.

Wayne, sharing second spot with Midland, has Dana on the road plus home tilts with Concordia and Midland.

Cats Best Bet

Of the contenders, the Wildcats appear best bets to emerge unscathed.

It's been an uphill climb all the way for Coach Allen Svenningson's club, now winner of 7 straight.

Most detrimental to progress of the Teachers were a slip at Chadron and a 14-point setback at Midland.

Never Doubled

Wesleyan, on the other hand, has never doubled up at Chadron during the 10 years of Coach Irv Peterson's tenure.

The Plainsmen, what's more, haven't whipped Hastings on Bronco maples since 1954.

They move into Hastings Saturday night and settle things with Chadron the following weekend.

Final Hopes

Peru, still looking for an opening, carries its final hopes to Lincoln against Wesleyan Tuesday.

Midland's not out of it, but the Warriors — their homecourt bubble burst by Wesleyan—must recuperate while on the road at Wayne and Peru.

The Nebraska 5-JC title is up for grabs Tuesday when McCook invades Fairbury. The two tied for the top spot a year ago, and a split's not impossible this time around.

Bombers Recover

Fairbury recovered from an early loss to Scottsbluff and tamed the Indians 72-68 Jan. 30 at McCook.

Coach C. L. (Red) Grovert's Bombers are 15-1 over the long route and have only Luther remaining at home following the showdown.

McCook must hurdle Scottsbluff on the latter's floor next week.

'YOU CALL IT' DUE TUESDAY

Attention baseball fans: Winter is over.

Although it isn't yet time to run for the bleachers or settle down for the Saturday TV game, you can do the next best thing by reading "You Call It" in The Star's sports section.

This challenging reader participation feature presents two types of diamond problems on alternate days.

These problems involve calls umpires and managers have to make all the time. Lots of fans think they can call 'em better than the constituted authorities. Can you?

Authored by Ben Olan of the Associated Press, the series runs 4 weeks starting Tuesday morning. Watch for it and then "You Call It."

State Meets Get Spotlight

DISTRICT WRESTLING

Grand Island 94, Northeast 88, Lincoln High 82, Southeast 82

By Larry Novicki

Wrestling and swimming again steal the show in prep sports this week.

The state swim meet takes place Friday and Saturday at the PSA Building in Lincoln. The state wrestling crown will be decided the same days at Boys Town.

Swimming has enjoyed its greatest year in Nebraska prep history. Nearly every record will be under fire this weekend.

Southeast, the defending champion, rates only slightly above Lincoln High, Omaha Central, Creighton Prep and Boys Town.

Omaha South is a solid favorite to rack up its 5th consecutive state mat title.

Battling for second will be Grand Island, Omaha North, Boys Town, Bellevue, and the 3 Lincoln teams.

Top basketball billing is given to the Lincoln High-Omaha South fray at Omaha Saturday.

South, the only unbeaten team in Class A, is rated first in the state. The Links are 4th. If South beats Central Tuesday, and the Links come through Saturday, the Capitol City 5 would hold a half-game lead in the Inter-City League.

Pius X travels to Omaha Cathedral Friday to meet a team that defeated them 42-39 this yer.

The rest of the Lincoln preps face somewhat easier competition. Friday Northeast is at Fairbury for a Mid-East game. Uni High, fresh from a big upset over Minden, goes to Plattsmouth. Southeast entertains Omaha Westside, a team with only two wins.

Saturday Northeast hosts Columbus. The Discoverers have found it hard to win against Class A foes although they scared Grand Island last Friday 56-58.

Jim Hearn Takes Ball Players Title

Miami (AP)—Jim Hearn came from behind with a final round 75 Sunday and defeated Alvin Dark by one stroke for the national baseball players golf championship.

Hearn, a one-time National League pitcher, finished with a 72-hole total of 301 for the 6,620-yard, par 70 Country Club Course at Miami Springs.

Dark finished with a two-stroke edge over Albie Pearson of the Baltimore Orioles, who was 3rd with 304.

Dark, who had a stroke lead over Hearn at the end of the 3rd round, shot a 77 after a woeful 43 on the first 9. Hearn had a 39 on the front 9 and was 3 up at the turn.

Dark, the veteran infielder now with the Philadelphia Phillies, made up the 3-stroke deficit on the first 3 holes of the back 9. But he fell behind again when Hearn birdied the 13th and took the lead for good.

Hearn, now a free agent, took a two-stroke lead when he birdied the par 5 15th hole. Dark, however, picked up a stroke at the 17th and was within one going into the final hole.

Each reached the green in two and two-putted to finish a stroke apart. Hearn brought a cheer from the gallery of about 7,500 when he sank a clinching two-footer.

It was the first victory in this tournament for Hearn, who said he will retire from baseball and open a golf center in his native Atlanta.

Dark was shooting for a 4th title,

BEV HANSON TOPS ST. PETE TOURNEY

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Beverly Hanson of Palm Desert, Calif., fired a par 71 Sunday to win the 72-hole St. Petersburg Women's Open golf championship and $1,247.75 by two strokes over Louise Suggs of Atlanta.

Miss Hanson played a steady game although she termed it "functional."

She had 3 birdies and 13 pars on her tour of the 6,116-yard Sunset Country Club course. Her bid on the 5th hole put her ahead of Miss Suggs by two strokes and there she stayed. Her 72-hole total was 287.

Miss Suggs, a veteran of the game, went out in 38 and back in 35 on the windswept course. She carded 289 good for $961.40. Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, took 3rd with a 290.

Veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., fired a 36-36 that made her total 291 good for 4th place. The 5th spot went to Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., on a 293.

Vet Billy Hunter Quitting Baseball

Baltimore (AP)—Billy Hunter, a shortstop who's bounced back and forth between the the majors and minors for years, says he's quitting baseball at the age of 31,

"There's no future for me in the minor leagues," Hunter said Sunday at his home in nearby Lutherville.

The only thing that might change his retirement plans, he said, would be another chance to play in the majors.

Hunter's contract was sold by Cleveland to Toronto of the International League last September after he had hit .250 for the Indians' triple-A San Diego farm club.

North Texas State Loses Point Star

Denton, Tex. (AP) — North Texas State's Jim Mudd, 6-7 scoring star, will not be able to play here in the North Texas State-Houston game tonight.

Coaches said Mudd, the nation's 5th leading scorer with 27.1-point game average in 21 contests, suffered a back injury in Thursday night's game with Tulsa.

Trainers said they hoped to have Mudd ready for the game Saturday night with Bradley, tied for the Missouri Valley Conference lead with Cincinnati at 8-1.

Leader Spins, Johnson Nabs Daytona 500

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Junior Johnson of Ronda N.C., won the Daytona 500-mile race Sunday with average speed of 124.740 miles per hour after a spin took the leader out of front position.

Johnson drove a 1959 Chevrolet in the 200-lap race on Daytona International Speedway.

Bobby Johns of Miami in a 1959 Pontiac was second. He led until 10 laps from the end, when he spun out and nearly hurtled into the infield lake before recovering.

Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., was 3rd in a 1960 Plymouth.

Breakup Rumored In Skyline Conference

Salt Lake City (AP) — The Salt Lake Tribune said Sunday night that a rumored breakup of the Skyline Conference is delaying the announcement of a choice for new conference commissioner.

Sports Editor John Mooney said a sifting committee looking for a new commissioner has narrowed the choice to two — Paul Brechler, athletic director at University of Iowa, and Ike Tomlinson, athletic director at Arkansas State.

Mooney said Brechler appeared to be the choice of the presidents of the Skyline's 8 member universities, who make the final decision on a replacement to retiring commissioner E. L. (Dick) Romney.

But Brechler, Mooney wrote, "since the NCAA meetings in New York, is a little hesitant to sign with a conference that could explode in several directions.

"Since the breakup of the old Pacific Coast Conference, there have been hints that a new league was in the conversation stage," Mooney added.

". . . during the NCAA meeting in New York, several confidentia meetings were held involving the northern orphans from the old PCC and some of the better-drawing powers of the Border and Skyline conferences.

"Some of the schools that met as potential members of a new conference included Arizona State, Arizona University, Utah, Wyoming, Oregon, Washington State and Oregon State. It was learned, too, that Brigham Young would be asked to join if such a league were formed."

AFL To Decide On All-Star Situation

Dallas (AP) — The American Football League is discussing whether to allow its signed players to participate in the College All-Star Game in Chicago next August.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the Dallas franchise and president of the league, said the circuit was mixed on the question and he didn't know what would be done.

"Some think we would be taking too great a chance of having key players injured and lost to us as we make our start in professional football," said Hunt.

However, Hunt added, all the clubs realized the good advertising the new league would get from its players performing in the All-Star Game.

Hunt says there would be 25 or 30 players in the league who would be eligible. These are the players signed from the colleges.

Anyway, the question will be settled when the league meets in late February or early March. Hunt said the meeting probably would be on the west coast.

The meeting wasn't called for the primary purpose of deciding on the players in the All-Star game although that will be up for discussion, Hunt said.

"We have accumulated a number of problems that should be worked out. One of them is how we will furnish players to Oakland, the newest member of the league. Each club is to contribute players but we haven't decided how many."

He said Oakland was trying to obtain the University of California stadium but he doubted it would be done. "If not the team will play in Candlestick Park in San Francisco," Hunt added.

He also pointed to the interest already generated in Oakland in pro football. "They have sold 2,500 season tickets without even starting a campaign," Hunt said.

2 Top European Gal Skiers Hurt

Squaw Valley, Calif. (AP) — Two top flight European girl skiers, both of the triple threat variety, were injured Sunday in training for the 1960 Winter Olympics.

Both Erike Netzer of Austria and Therese Leduc, France's No. 1 feminine star, were hurt on the mile and ⅛ ladies' downhill course.

The girls will be delined at least 3 days. The games open Thursday, the ladies downhill is scheduled Saturday.

The 22-year-old Austrian cracked up at high speed and was carried off the mountain on a toboggan. She suffered a sprained leg ligament.

Miss Leduc, one of 3 sisters competing for France, aggravated an old leg injury riding the downhill course bumps. Doctors told her to stay off skis for a few days.

Both girls are strong contenders in downhill, slalom and giant slalom.

In a day of fierce activity, another official was hurt — the 3rd in 3 days. Adolph Heine, president of the West German Ski Assn., spilled trying to avoid a little boy on the course and suffered a broken vertebra. He was bandaged and put to bed in his dormitory room in the Olympic village.

Helmut Recknagel, a 23-year-old mechanic from East Germany, continued to amaze the experts with his feats off the 80-meter (262.46 feet) Olympic jumping hill. He made two leaps of 91 meters (298.55 feet).

A huge crowd of pre-Olympic visitors brought out by warm, sunny weather, also watched Torbjorn Yggeseth of Norway make several 90 meter (295.27 feet) jumps.

Only one Olympic athlete, Miss Netzer, was brought off the mountain. But the ski patrol was kept busy with injuries to pleasure skiers who wanted to watch the international field of Olympians practice, and then, without the skill, tried to imitate them.

The latest count in the Olympic village was 746 athletes from 32 nations plus 218 officials. Village director Robert Minerich said he expected another 100 before the opening day ceremonies.

Leaders Keep Top Positions

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice—Only minor jugglings were effected during close-out of the 17th annual Burwood Hotel and Cafe Bowling Tournament here Sunday.

The meet, running for its 6th weekend, attracted a record entry of 160 teams, 382 doubles and 764 singles.

Omahans Mert Irvin and Jurg Pahl reigned as singles and all events titlists respectively.

CUBANS WIN

Panama (AP) — Cuba won the Caribbean baseball world series Sunday night as the Washington Senators' Camilo Pascual pitched one-hit 4-0 shutout over Puerto Rico.

Usual Saturday Night For Olympic Athletes

Squaw Valley, Calif. (AP)—Like young folks everywhere, Olympic athletes like to whoop it up a bit on Saturday night.

They turned out for a party at Olympic Village that included ice cream sodas, table tennis and dancing to a juke box blaring everything from rock 'n roll to polkas.

Some of the young men and women called it an evening after taking in a movie at the Olympic Village quonset hut theatre.

Others, like Austria's Willie Bogner, turned in early. The crack alpine racer explained:

"I'll do my dancing after the games."

The dance floor at the reception center was packed with couples. They danced Schottishes, wiggled to the Latin strains of cha cha cha and kicked up their heels in American jitterbugging.

Many athletes, tired after a full day on the slopes, jumps and ice rinks, sat quietly in small groups, sipping hot choclate and milk shakes. Others leaned against the milk bar, chatting.

Several, like Austria's Traudl Hecher, devoted most of their evening to table tennis. The 16-year-old downhill ace took on all comers, beating several of the men.

New Board Formed By Gal Keglers

Formulation of a 22-member board of directors was approved Sunday by members of the Lincoln Women's Bowling Association.

The new executive body replaces an 83-member group, formerly made up of city officers and league presidents.

The board includes 6 officers-elect plus 16 at-large delegates to the board.

Also given ratification as a constitutional amendment was establishment of outgoing officers as members of an association advisory board for one year following their terms.

Rosemary Murphy was re-elected for one year as city president. Other officers-elect were Marge Propp, first vice-president; Darlene Saathoff, second vice-president; Stella Kaufman, secretary; Irma Switch, treasurer, and Stella Morgan, sergeant-at-arms.

About 205 attended the afternoon meeting. Next event is the post-tournament awards banquet and dance at Hillcrest Country Club Feb. 27.

Tickets are available from league secretaries.

Late Entry Bags First At Panama

Panama City (AP) — Ernie Vossler, last-minute entry from Fort Worth, Tex., Sunday annexed the Pamana Open Golf tournament with a record-breaking 72-hole score of 269.

Vossler, subbing for ailing Don January in the PGA-sponsored meet, finished 3 strokes ahead of Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla.

Finsterwald had a 272, defending champion Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla. was 3rd at 275.

Vossler's total trimmed two strokes off the tournament record of 271 set in 1954 by Sam Snead and tied in 1958 by Bob Watson of Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y.

He had 8 birdies, 6 of them on the back 9. His card was marred by only one bogey.

Entering the final round with a one-stroke lead, Ernie shot a sensational 7-under par 65 with a 34 on the front 9 and 31 coming home.

The victory was worth $1,500 Leaders:

Ernie Vossler	69-68-67-65—269	$1,500

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!

Compare this list of Chevy advances with the features ordinary trucks are still talking about. You'll see why Chevy trucks get more work done in a day... why they go extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. These Sturdi-Bilt Sixties aren't just new, they're a full scale revolution!

TORSION-SPRING RIDE
Each front wheel, suspended independently of the other, is free to step individually over bumps. And shockproof torsion springs up front soak up the jars and jolts before they reach the body. With three rugged new tailored-to-the-truck rear suspensions to further reduce road shocks, Chevy gives you the smoothest truck ride you've ever felt.

With independent front suspension there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel.

NO SHIMMY, NO WHEEL FIGHT
Drive a '60 Chevy. Just once. Right away you'll notice the absence of I-beam shimmy and wheel fight common on ordinary trucks.

CABS FOR BIG GUYS
Big guys get a bigger break in a Chevy cab. There's plenty of space inside to stretch out and relax; more room for hats and hips, more room for wide shoulders and long legs. There's horizon-wide visibility through a windshield with 26% more glass area; a new see-at-a-glance instrument panel. Cabs are safer, too, up to 67% more rigid.

6'S SWORN TO SAVE
Chevy's 6-cylinder engines are set to squeeze extra miles out of every drop of fuel. They're long famous for low fuel consumption, high performance.

SHORT STROKE V8'S
Power-packed for peak performance, Chevy's husky V8's make child's play out of the toughest hauls. They have a mind tuned to economy, too, that keeps costs down, profits up.

SLICK NEW SUBURBAN CARRYALLS
These handsome new handy haulers "double in brass"—can transport eight passengers or up to 950 lbs. of payload. Rear and center seats are easy to remove and replace when necessary. For work or for pleasure, these double-duty beauties are best for both!

NEW DOLLAR-SAVING PRICES
Chevrolet's low prices make big truck news for '60. They mean money in your pocket on model after model. Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Also, prices have been reduced on all optional V8's.

SEE YOUR DEALER
It could be the most important visit you make in '60. When you've seen these new Chevies, you'll agree they're the world's most advanced trucks. Then drive one and find out why.

AF Chief Warns Hasty Air Alert Risks Rash Soviet Move

Washington (AP) — The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas D. White, says the establishment of a round-the-clock U.S. airborne alert now might prod Soviet leaders inot rash decisions.

It is wiser, White said, to stick with the announced plan for building up an "on-the-shelf" capability so such an alert can be put into operation if needed.

The Air Force chief made his views known in heavily censored testimony released Sunday by the Senate space and preparedness subcommittees, which heard White behind closed doors.

Among others heard by the subcommittee was Gen. Thomas D. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, who has been plugging for more funds so his bombers will be able to keep a day-night alert within about two years.

Others Concur

White agreed with this view generally, which was expressed also at the hearings by Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), chairman of both subcommittees, and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) They said this country should have a capability for the SAC airborne alert in the next few years when Russia is expected to have hundreds of ocean-spanning missiles capable of hitting U.S. targets.

White testified he had recommended to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, on which he serves, that additional hundreds of millions of dollars be provided for the SAC standby alert.

He said there were 3 different viewpoints among the 4 military chiefs and as a result Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. and President Eisenhower finally made the decision to ask $90 million to prepare for an alert capability.

White said he opposed an immediate start on constant flying by the bombers with nuclear weapons aboard because it was not needed now and would be very expensive in both dollars and manpower.

Wesleyan Debate Squad Near Top

Nebraska Wesleyan University's varsity debate squad tied for second place with the U.S. Air Force Academy in the Rocky Mountain Speech Conference sweepstakes competition.

Entered in the tournament held at the University of Denver were 42 colleges from 13 states. Wesleyan's debate coach is Prof. Harold Sampson.

The squad also placed in other events.

The men's debate team placed 3rd in the "A" division. Team members were sophomores Rod McMahan and Douglas Harmon of Lincoln.

The girls' debate team won second in the "B" division. Comprising the team were freshmen Marjean Larson of Lincoln and Joan Likens of Kearney.

Miss Likens won 3rd place in girls' extemporaneous speaking.

New Suzie Wong Picked For Movie

London (AP) — A new Suzie Wong was named here a Hong Kong girl with freckles on her nose who has never appeared in a film or play.

The movie makers announced that Nancy Kwan, the 20-year-old newcomer, was selected from more than 30 rivals for the movie part in the Broadway play about a prostitute overtaken by love.

She replaces France Nuyen who withdrew from the multi-million-dallar motion picture 10 days ago. The studio announced then that her voice cracked up. The change of stars was reported to have cost the studio some $800,000.

Reds Reaffirm Ties

Moscow (AP) — The leaders of the Soviet Union and Red China Sunday hailed the 10th anniversary of their mutual defense treaty with renewed pledges to support each other in war or peace.

Wounded While Hunting Rabbits

Albion (AP) — A 15-year-old Albion youth was accidentally shot in the head Sunday while hunting rabbits with two companions.

Larry Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson, was taken by amulance to Nebraska Methodist Hospital in Omaha. The hospital declined Sunday night to list his condition.

Thompson was hunting with John Barnes, about 15, and his young brother, Dick Barnes, about two miles east of Albion when the mishap occurred.

John Barnes said he whirled to shoot a rabbit and the bullet struck Thompson in the temple. Thompson and John Barnes are sophomore students at Albion High School.

Ag Approach Not Political, Says Benson

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson Sunday rejected a suggestion that the Eisenhower administration's less rigid approach to farm legislation is geared to the election year.

Benson said President Eisenhower's farm message to Congress last week "is a document based on sound economic principles, representing our best judgment and recommendations."

Eisenhower's message dealt principally with the critical wheat surplus problem that he said is costing the government $1½ million a day in storage costs. Eisenhower offered, as he has in the past, a plan for removing production controls from the wheat farmer. At the same time he challenged Congress to come up with a better plan.

Pressure Discounted

Benson, whose policies have been bucked strongly by some Republican members of Congress, was asked in a TV-radio interview about reports that Eisenhower's message had been revised at the insistence of some GOP senators.

Benson replied, "No I think that is not true."

Benson was asked about reports that Vice President Nixon had a big part in giving Congress more freedom to write farm legislation. He replied:

"I think the President made it very clear in his press conference this past week that he insisted that the Vice President read the message.

"And certainly he had a part in the discussions before legislative leaders and at other times. And so I feel that he had some part in it, yes, very definitely."

Mac Unchanged

New York (AP) — The condition of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was reported unchanged at Lenox Hill Hospital where he has been undergoing treatment for a urological condition. Hospital aides reported earlier that the 80-year-old general was making normal improvement.

PEN WOMEN'S AWARD TO BENNETT FOR ARTICLE ON WILLA CATHER

"Willa Cather in Pittsburgh," an article by Mildred R. Bennett of Red Cloud which appeared in the Spring 1959 "Prairie Schooner," has been selected as first-place winner of a national contest sponsored by the National League of American Pen Women.

The award, Randolph-Macon Woman's College award for a published or unpublished biographical article, includes a $50 prize.

Judges for the contest were: Mrs. Evelyn Eaton, lecturer in creative writing at Sweet Briar College; Dr. John Pendy Kirby, chairman of department of English, Randolph-Macon Woman's College; and Miss Charlotte Kohler, editor of Virginia Quarterly Review.

The issue of the "Prairie Schooner" in which the award-winning article appeared was the "All-Nebraska" issue — all material by or about Nebraskans — which came out during the celebration of the Lincoln Centennial.

Mrs. Bennett, who earned her Master of Arts degree at the University of Nebraska in 1938, is now working on a book about Willa Cather, tentatively entitled "The Road Is All: Aspects of the Life and Writings of Willa Cather," which the University of Nebraska Press hopes to publish in 1961 or 1962.

The Red Cloud resident is also the author of "The World of Willa Cather" and "Early Stories of Willa Cather"; president of the Nebraska Writers Guild; and founder and president of the Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial.

The Cather Memorial has recently obtained a building in Red Cloud and is converting it into a literary museum. The members plan to make the memorial a living thing, including provision for scholarships in the future. Letters by Willa Cather are also being collected.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY

Paying As You Go Proves Profitable

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

In giving a prescription for avoiding becoming a sucker, Frank A. Vanderlip, one-time president of New York's National City Bank, remarked that a fellow could make money by coppering (or going opposite) the advice of tipsters.

Rukeyser

Mr. Vanderlip's advice came to mind when Ralph Edward Schneider, chairman of the Diners' Club, Inc., which has grown like a mushroom in the past ten years, asked rhetorically whether money is going out of style. In touting the use of credit cards, Mr. Schneider observed: "Numerous surveys over the years have proved conclusively that the holder of our card spends between 20 and 26 per cent more than the person who pays cash."

In the spirit of reverse psychology, there is inherent in this observation a suggestion for thrifty Americans who want to transfer part of their earnings each year to their personal capital account. The clear implication is that the person who pays cash as he goes not only avoids financing costs, but will tend to spend 20 to 26 per cent less.

Belatedly, the savings banks have begun to get into the act, and, in the spirit of coppering tips about a little down and easy payments, they are demonstrating significant dollar and cents benefits from saving first, and then buying.

Obviously, credit, charge-it, and instalment plans serve important human needs, and can't be discounted.

But for those having trouble making both ends meet, and where going without something is necessary if a surplus is to be accumulated, dispensing with the rising cost of free and easy credit merits consideration. Obviously it is better to give up financing charges than vitamins and minerals needed for the physical well-being of Mom, Dad and the kids.

Curiously enough, our paternalistic government has been unwittingly whooping it up for the use of credit instead of cash. In the first place, interest on borrowed funds is a tax-deductible item, and this, in practical terms, means that Uncle Sam bears part of the burden through permitting offsetting tax savings by the borrower.

Secondly, the Federal Internal Revenue Service, in scrutinizing deductions from taxable personal income for "ordinary and necessary expenses," has developed a passion for records. These credit card services provide evidence concerning the place, the time, and the amount of expenditures. Thus, the only missing gap in proof that the entertaining was for persons who justify the claim that the outlay constitutes an "ordinary and necessary" business expense. If the dining out was purely social, the cost is nondeductible. On the other hand, if the host's motivation was somewhat tainted with "commercial bribery," it qualifies as a deductible expense. Thus, in this tax civilization in which we live, there has been a distortion of both morals and financial prudence!

Thirdly, the credit card, in addition to providing records for tax purposes, obviates the need of substantial working capital on the part of those making business trips. By delaying the need for paying for such services for a month or more until credit card bills are rendered, the traveler collects the income resulting from the trip in time to defray the expense bills.

Fourthly, instead of drawing many checks to pay hotel and food bills at each stop on an extended trip, and perhaps having a problem in getting some strangers to accept his personal checks, the individual draws a single check to pay his credit card billing. This reduces activity in his bank account, and lessens the service charge. If he uses a special checking account, the charge per check is 10 cents.

Fifthly, the use of gasoline, rail and airline, and hotel and restaurant credit cards avoids the necessity for carrying substantial amounts of cash when traveling. Likewise, even at home, if guests eat and drink far more than expected, it might be embarrassing if the cash in your wallet is insuffiçent.

Whatever the conveniences may be in the use of credit cards, the thrifty budget balancer should recognize that he can save in two ways through using cash. First, in actual finance charges, and, secondly, in the psychological tendency to spend more because payment is deferred.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Nikita: West Uses Aid To 'Enslave' Poorer Countries

Bhilai, India (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Sunday Western nations give aid to India and other underdeveloped nations only to hold them "in capitalist slavery."

"They openly state that India must be given economic aid, otherwise it will pass from the free world into the socialist camp," he told an audience at this Indian steel city built with Soviet aid.

Khrushchev is on a 5-day visit to India en route to Indonesia. He flew to Bhilai after 3 days in New Delhi.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
